Summary: (machine translated)
Also known as del Jurado. Simple dry canyon with a very interesting first part, with 6 rappels. From here without great interest, both options are reviewed but it is recommended to do only this part and combine with some other in the area.

Hydrology:
Sí

Access: (machine translated)
We have to take the TF28 in Fasnia.
We will continue right up to the p.k. 46 where we have the bridge over our ravine, a few meters before we can park the access vehicle.
With the return vehicle, previously, we will have gone down from Cruz del Roque by the access to the highway, after 500m there is a bus stop in a detour where we will go to the right, we will continue going down, we will pass another bus stop and in the next one, we will look for a place to park here.

Approach: (machine translated)
From the bridge it is evident

Tour: (machine translated)
See mole.
The rappel from the arch is not mandatory, nor is the subsequent one. You can leave beforehand.
Continuing the descent to Las Eras does not provide much more from this point.

Return: (machine translated)
From the arch we leave by a small path to the left that takes us to the road.
If we do the abseil of the arch and the next one, we will continue another 100m to a track that arrives on the left, we will go up it to the road.
