Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Very alpine canyon and therefore not too channeled with typical V-shape. Given its altitude it can have snow until the summer and in the spring it can be very difficult to descend.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Possible in open areas

Access: (machine translated)
We will arrive on the N230 towards Vielha, after passing Vilaller and Senet, just before passing the tunnel of Vielha we have an exit to the right and by the side road we reach the Espitau Refuge and park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will leave by the GR towards the Vall de Conangles, we will cross the stream of Redon seeing the waterfalls that we will descend to the left. The road will turn from west to north and the GR will go to the right, we will have a path that goes to the northeast, to Estanh Redon. We will follow this path until it joins the stream and access.

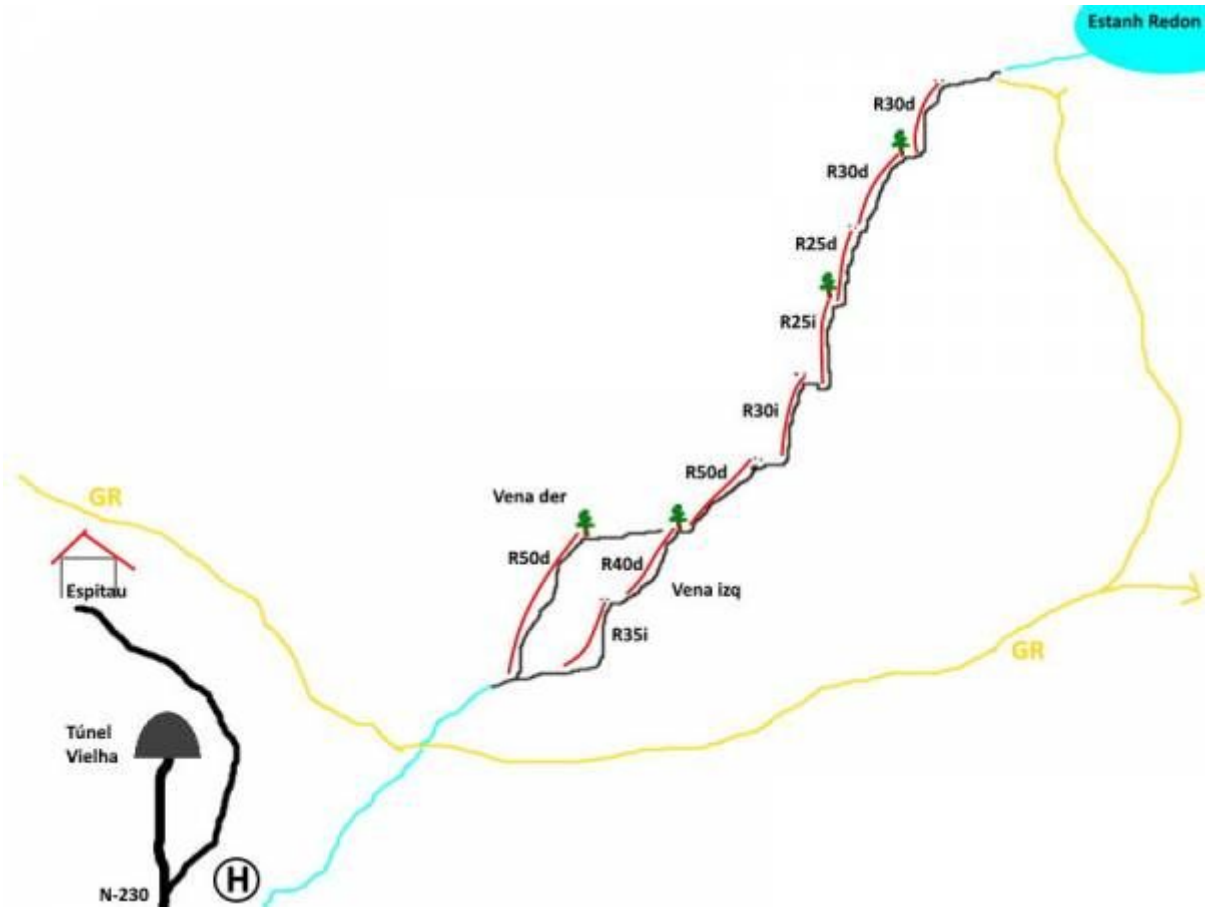

Tour: (machine translated)
Very interesting descent with great views of the valley. The rappels with adequate flow are not difficult at all.

Return: (machine translated)
We continue along the creek until we cross the GR
