Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Nice gorge with small rappels and hiking areas. It can be extended with the bco Pardinas and Salastro. Please note that the access and return tracks, although in good condition, can not be used by any vehicle. We recommend a high vehicle.
Review to be completed

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Yes, in open areas we have the GR on the orographic right.

Access: (machine translated)
From Ainsa on the N260 we turn towards France on the A138 until we get almost to Bielsa. 76,6 there is a left curve to cross the bridge over the Cinca, just in the curve, on the left there is a place to park the return car if it is a low vehicle. If it is a high vehicle we get into the track that comes out on the right a few meters before. By this track we will go up almost 3kms until a point where the track gets very close to the riverbed.
With the access car we go up to the camping of Bielsa. Likewise, if it is a low vehicle we park at the entrance of the campsite. If we have a high vehicle we will continue along the track for almost 3kms.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will continue along the GR until we reach the fork of the Pardina (right) and Salastro (left) banks, which form the Montillo bank. At this point the GR crosses the Pardina river, here we will access

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
After the last difficulties, 2km of ravine, we will exit to the left by the cairn to go up to the track.
