Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Nice dry canyon perfect for initiation.
Caution in case of heavy rains because it can suffer large floods.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Yes, but there is a lot of vegetation from the third rappel on the left.

Access: (machine translated)
We must get to the village of Calles by the CV35.
Once in the village we will cross the bridge and go towards the recreational area of Puente Alta.
When we arrive we will cross the bridge over the Turia and we will continue straight on towards Tuesa. We will have a curve to the right and another one to the left where we will see a detour, by the track that goes up we will go towards the access and to the left towards the return that we have about 800m away. We can park next to the exit bridge.
It is not necessary since the access is quite nice but if we want to save the half hour walk we can, with the access car take the track on the right, after two sharp turns we will be at the top of the canyon and 2km from the turnoff we can park. We will see a path that goes down to an old dam.

Approach: (machine translated)
From the access car, the descent to the dam is immediate.
From the return car we will go up the track enjoying the wonderful views during the 2kms of track to the dam trail.

Tour: (machine translated)
Simple, we start with the rappel from the dam that can be lowered by the metal steps (some in poor condition).
There will be rappels and abseilings until we reach the bridge of the starting track.

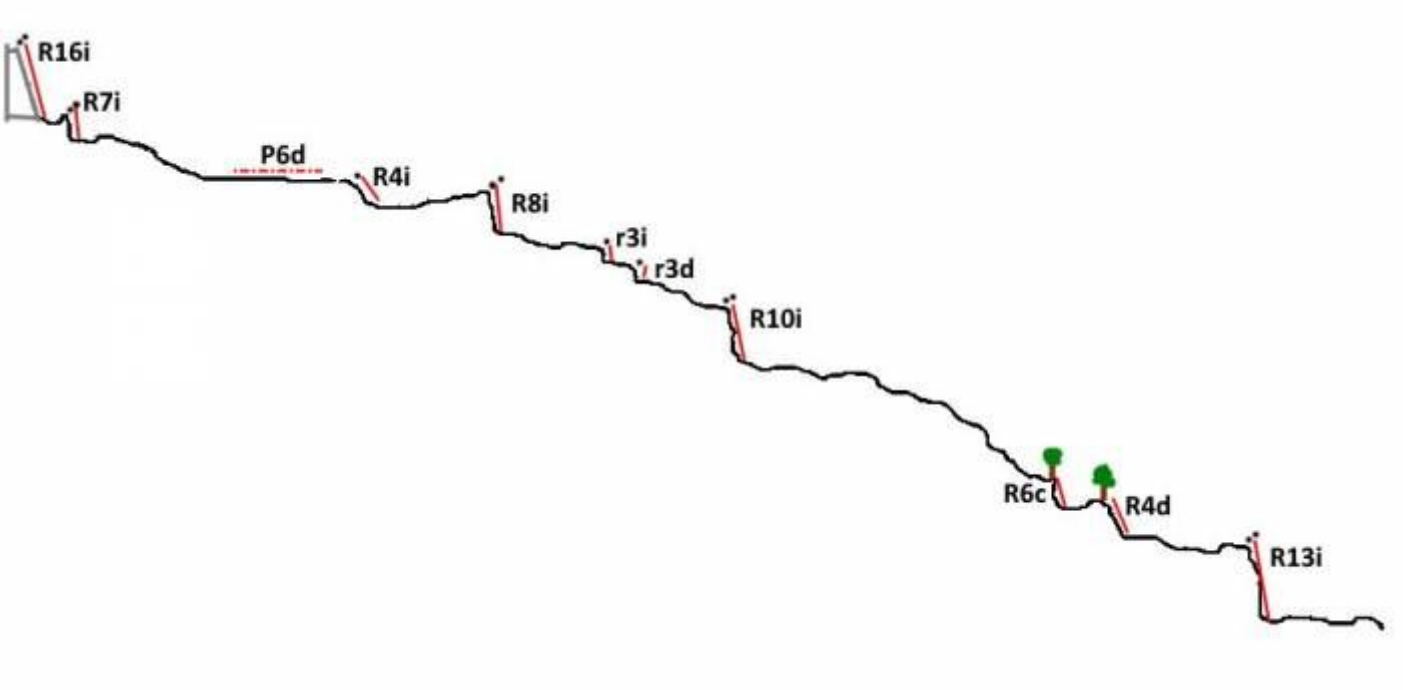

Return:
Inmediato

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 39.6938 -1.0082
