Access: (machine translated) From the power station, drive up to La Balme de Rencurel and continue on the D531 to the Goule Noire bridge. From there, take the D103 to Saint-Julien en Vercors, turn right in the village and take the road that leads to the Ponsons district. Follow the road and park at a junction (before the "circulation interdit" sign).
Approach: (machine translated) Continue on foot and take the path (red and yellow markings) that begins in a grove of trees surrounded by two meadows. A little further on, leave the path that leads to the Grotte des Gaulois on the right and follow the path to the portal of a cave from which the spring that causes the waterfall emerges (blue marker).
Tour: (machine translated) Sequence of waterfalls for a total of 360 m; the first abseil point is on an empty full tree RG.  From the second relay there are no more alternative routes. The last waterfall can be avoided by joining the RD ascent route.  Due to the width of the relays, a team of three people is recommended, no more and no less. The largest waterfall in the region
Return: (machine translated) Take the path that leads to Bournillon Cave and descend it to reach the parking lot below the cave.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Moulin Marquis Fait en 4h à 4 en coïncidence une corde (45min de perdu). Après les premiers rappels on a fait que des rappels de ~50m. On a fait au max dans l'actif en faisant RD, RG puis RD. Attention, l'avant dernier rappel nous a demandé 55m de corde (même depuis le relais inférieur, au plus proche de la verticale) (Quelle: <https://www.descente-canyon.com/canyoning/canyon-debit/2546/observations.html>)

We went down the rappelling routes orographically to the left. After the 3rd tree on the right, we didn't find any more anchors, so we went left. (machine translated)
