Summary: (machine translated)
Barranco La Clara or Jalmero, is a very short canyon with almost no water, maybe in the initial and final pools. Its 30m waterfall / rappel at the end is the highlight.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
It is quite open

Access: (machine translated)
We must approach the village of Aliaga (Teruel). Once in the village we look for the gas station and the visitor center (if we need information about the area this is the perfect place), here we turn onto the road to Miravete and continue along the road that goes straight ahead. After about 8 kms we will see a road on the right and a parking area, here we leave the car.

Approach: (machine translated)
We take the path towards Cascada de la Clara and continue up the ravine to the top of the ravine.

Tour: (machine translated)
Short and uncomplicated, the most remarkable is the third 30m rappel.

Return: (machine translated)
At the end of the last rappel, we go out on the way up.

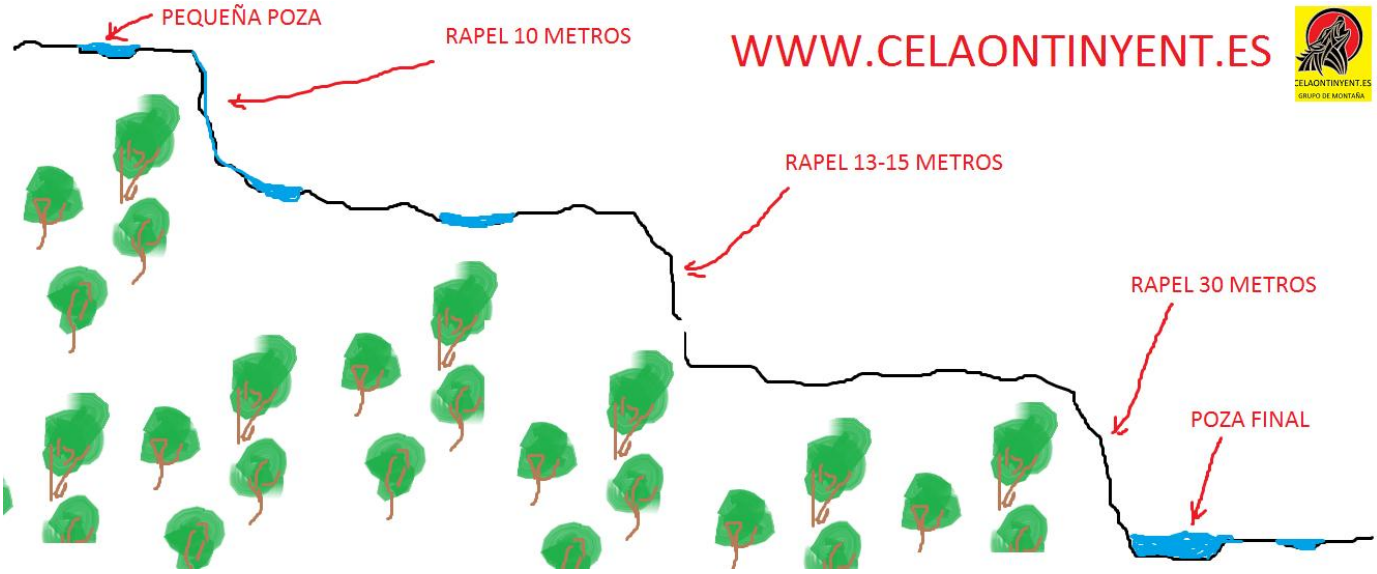

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 40.6399 -0.7140
