Hydrology:
No

Access: (machine translated)
On the TV3421 that goes to Roquetes, just before Mas de Barberáns, at pk 12.1 we have a detour "La Vall".
After two kilometers we have a detour, we take it to the left and continue for almost 2 kms until just before a left turn where the track crosses the Regatxol ravine. There is a cistern, here we can park a car if we see that the track is in bad condition, although the walk would be very long.
If we have a high car we will continue until the end of the track, with the Gotellera ravine on our right.

Approach: (machine translated)
On the path that goes down to the Gotellera, we cross it and follow it. We will cross the ravine of Cocó Fondo and then our own.

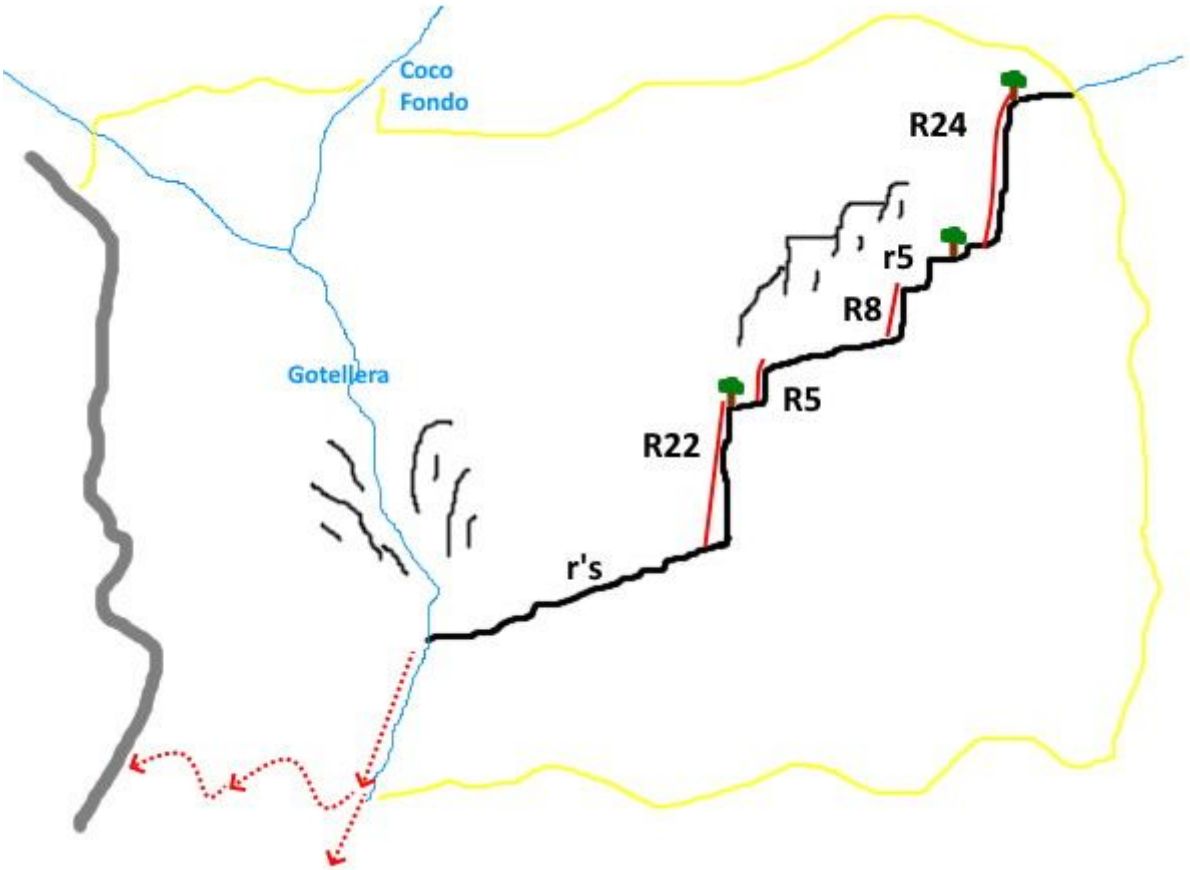

Tour: (machine translated)
Without being of great interest, if we have a high car to reach the end of the track, it can be a good canyon to practice. A couple of more or less long rappels, two short ones,...

Return: (machine translated)
If we park at the confluence of ravines, below, we must follow the dry riverbed to the access track.
If we park at the head of Gotellera, after the strait there is a path on the right with red marks that leads us up to the track, from here to the right and soon we reach the parking area.
