Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Short canyon to combine with some other, very simple, only two rappels, a kind of fractional waterfall.
Enviable and wonderful environment for spring and autumn days, in summer in the afternoon very hot and in winter we can find the waterfalls frozen.

Hydrology:
No

Access: (machine translated)
Bcos de la Terreta
By the N230 towards Pont de Suert
Access to Bcos de la Terreta
At p.k. 101, just before the detour to Arén, we have the detour to the right to Orrit and Sapeira. We will have to follow this small road towards Sapeira and Castellet at all times.
Once we get to Sapeira, we must continue straight ahead without entering the village, towards Castellet and just at the exit park.

Approach: (machine translated)
On the right is the path heading east that climbs towards the mountains, before the kilometer cross the ravine Canaril and 300m later crosses it again to start climbing through a pine forest to the ridge that separates this ravine Llepós. Once on the ridge we change slope to go down carefully to our ravine.
Caution to the stones arriving at the ravine that slip.

Tour: (machine translated)
A small circus/ fractional cascade

Return: (machine translated)
We leave the riverbed by the orographic right to go to a track that does not appear on the maps, it will take us down to the main track that goes to Castellet, at its confluence we could have left the return vehicle but it would only save us 15-20 min.
