From Reutte on the B198 up the Lech Valley to Bach (37.5 km). 180m after the Lech bridge, which is just before entering Bach, we turn left from the B198 and take the road that leads south to Madau. 3.4 km after the turnoff and 2 km after the last house of Oberbach (before the road goes uphill in the forest), we park our car for the exit over a ditch, over which our exit should be made.\n\take the second car back to Bach. At the first bridge over the Alperschonbach we drive on its orographic. right side to the houses of Unterbach. Here we keep to the right and park the 2nd car near the Alperschonbach (at the last houses of Unterbach) (1100 m above sea level).

Now we take the path up to the snack station Wase (1320 m above sea level) and then the forest road, which leads up in serpentines. 1200 m after the snack station and 130 m after the second left-hand serpentine, a forest road branches off to the right at a sharp angle. Follow this and after about 350 m you come out of the forest into the slopes above the Loobig valley. Another good 300 m further and we are at the stream (entry).\nThe entry here is about 80 meters in altitude above the entry height indicated by the first climbers.

After the last high rappel in the Loobig valley we stand in the Alperschonbach. In this we go down about 150 m and then climb in or next to the next ditch, which pulls down from the left, up to the road and the car at "P2".
