Collection canyon that, in addition, will require two cars. Small abseils and rappels to reach the great vertical of more than 30m. Caution if the reservoir is low that can leave a meter more in the last rappel and leave almost 40m, with the high reservoir will be 20m.

Yes in most of the route because it is open

Access: (machine translated)
By the C16 from Berga to Puigcerda.
We will arrive at Cercs and try to park the car back at the nautical school or as close as possible to the reservoir. With the access car we continue a couple of kilometers until the detour to the right to La Nou de Bergueda BV4022. Just to reach the village we have a detour to the right to Our Lady of Lourdes by the BV4023, we will get in here, leave the sanctuary behind and continue about 2kms until just before passing over the stream, we will find a track on the right that goes down to the riverbed. Park here.

Approach: (machine translated)
We went down the track to the riverbed

Tour: (machine translated)
Small abseils and rappels to reach the 32m vertical, after which we could abandon the descent to the right, going up the slope to find an old track, or continue for a long time until we reach the last vertical above the reservoir.

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the reservoir, we will have to swim across it.
