Summary: (machine translated)
Canyon for collectors, a vertical with opening installation and already. It takes little time to access and return, in case we want to complete the activity of a day and we are passing through.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
In the vertical

Access: (machine translated)
On the N260 between Boltaña and Ainsa at km. 442.8 over the bridge, turn to Arcusa and Barcabo on the A-2205.
Or from Ainsa, just across the bridge the A-2205 to Guaso and Barcabo.
In both cases we will pass Guaso and continue south towards Barcabo for 7kms until the detour to the left to Santa María de Buil and Sarratillo.
Access to Santa María de Buil
At 800m from the turn-off (just before the right fork in the road) we have an esplanade on our left, next to the cuttings and a track that goes north, we park here.

Approach: (machine translated)
We leave along the track heading north, after 200m we reach the Nuaz ravine, we turn right to go up it and we see its small cirque that we will descend. By its orographic left, between pines, we go up to the top of the cirque and we throw ourselves to the left to the riverbed.

Tour: (machine translated)
Upon entering we have a rappel from a tree, on a ramp, to approach the vertical. From here to the bottom of the cirque. We will only have to continue the canyon with a couple of drops to the trail.

Return: (machine translated)
By the access road
