Summary: (machine translated)
Impressive access channel to the Barranc d'Orió, this other one is not of great interest, but its access channel has a 70m split rappel that will delight lovers of great verticals. We will continue from the R15 of the Barranc d'Orió and we will be able to continue by the Barranc de Lloret. A good combination of ravines.
Necessary combination of vehicles if we don't want to have a good walk.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Once in the vertical

Access: (machine translated)
From Mas de Barberáns to Roquetes by the TV3421, in the pk 18,6 we have a detour to the Barranc de Lloret. At the end of this track there is a barrier, there is a place to park the return car.
With the access car we return to the road, pk 12.1 we have a detour "La Vall". After two kilometers we have a detour, we take it to the right and continue to the area of La Vall.

Approach: (machine translated)
Along the track that goes up to the cova del Vidre, we will go up to the confluence with the GR, here we will go to the right towards the Colls del Pallers.
There is a characteristic pass with a rock wall and a valley on the right that will be our descent. We will go down through the forest in steep descent until we reach the vertical

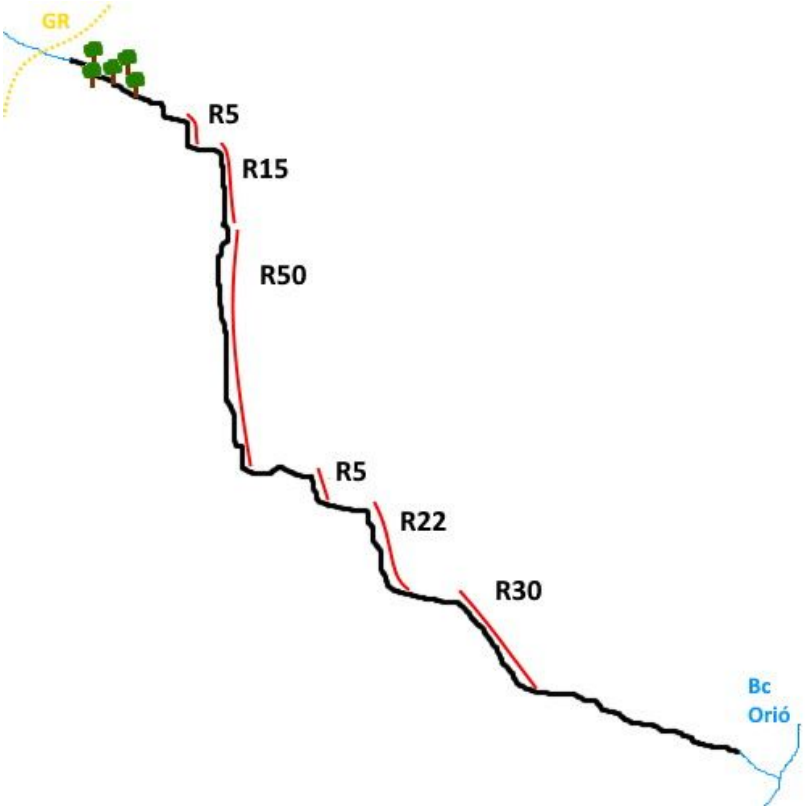

Tour:
Ver topo

Return: (machine translated)
We arrive at R15 of Barranc d'Orió, we will have to follow it and make our return.
