Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon in the Port area, central area of continuous rappels something interesting. Better to avoid the summer and the hours of heat, if we want to find it with a trickle of water we will have to go in rains.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
On the path of the cova

Access: (machine translated)
We must be located in La Senia, where we will arrive by the TV3319, from Ulldecona, leaving the A7.
We cross La Senia by the CV105 towards Fredes, when we cross the bridge of the Ulldecona reservoir, we will see a track on the right by which we will go up with the car. After passing the tail of the reservoir we will have a fork, on the right the Bco de Fou and in front of Fredes. We go to the right about 800m until a gentle right turn of the track.

Approach: (machine translated)
From the small parking area there is a path to our right, with some milestones that will take us up the orographic left of the ravine. The path will be quite clear until a curve almost on the ravine, if we go straight ahead we would cross the ravine (escape) and go to the Cova dels Salvatges. We will go to the right to continue climbing towards a rocky area following the path and the milestones. Past the area of the stone quarry we will reach a hill from which we will see the ravine. We will follow the milestones in ascending direction until the riverbed.

Tour: (machine translated)
First of all, a zone of skills by a dressed riverbed until arriving to the gorges where we will find successive rappels. At the end of the boxed zone we will have another zone of dexterity, quite dressed up to the car.

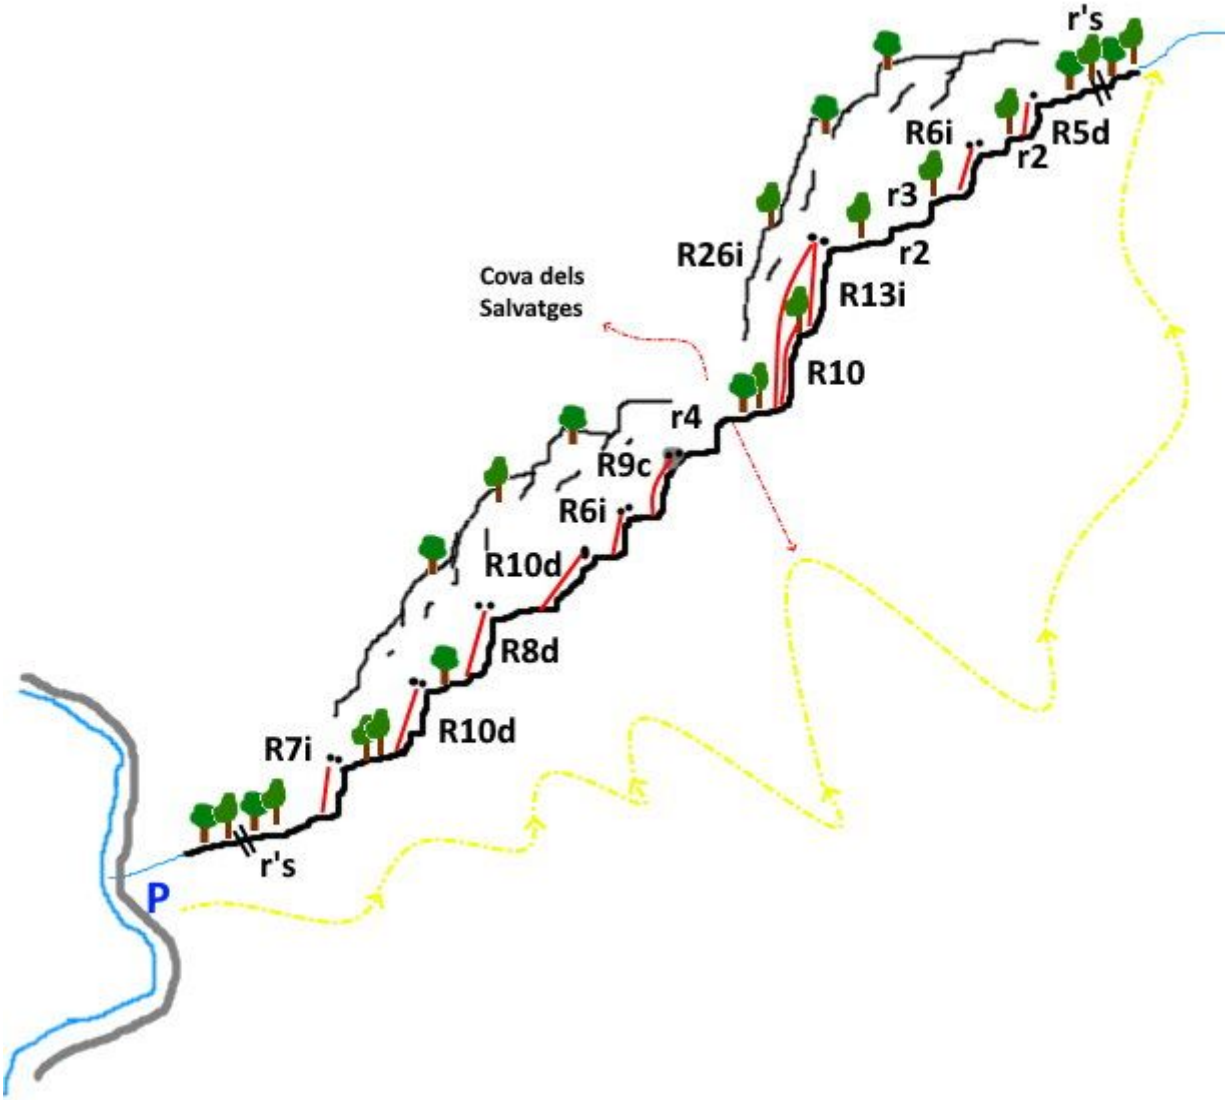

Return: (machine translated)
Practically immediately if we count the abseilings at the end of the canyon. From the last rappel it is about 15 min.
