Hydrology: (machine translated)
Yes, although on half a slope and with a lot of undergrowth.

Access: (machine translated)
We are located in Árnes, on the T330. We will enter by the side of Valderrobles (from the river) to take Aragon Street. After 200m we have a detour to the right to Toll de Vidre that we will take. By this track/road we will go towards the Coll de la Creu here a track comes out on our left, in quite bad condition and after 600m it goes down towards the Caseta de Rabosí where we will park.

Approach: (machine translated)
Access bcos Serrall de les Tossetes
From the Rabosí hut we will go down the track towards the Gros ravine, when we get down we follow it for about 50m and we will see a path that goes up to the Serrall de Tossetes, through the Racó de Pataqueret leaving the Cova del Fideu to one side. The path, a little lost, in which we will follow some milestones, leaves the bed of the ravine by its orographic right to climb the slope until almost the top, here, already horizontal, it goes to the head of the ravine of the Cova del Fideu and then to our ravine.

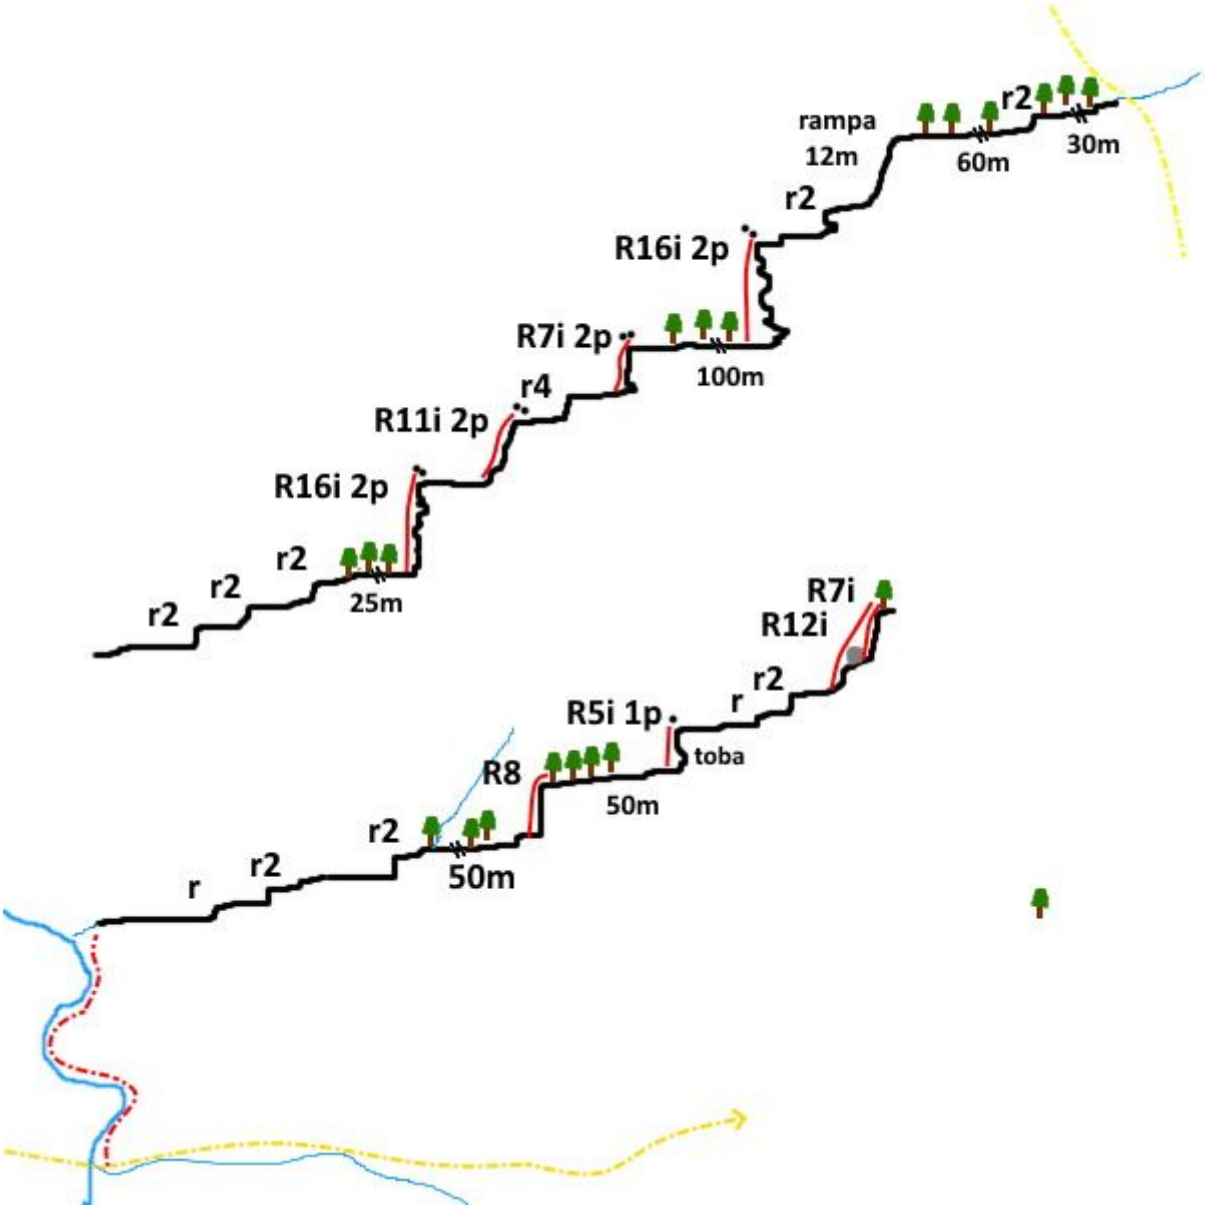

Tour: (machine translated)
Simple descent in which the most remarkable feature is the environment.

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the Gros ravine, we will follow the path that goes up to the access path.
