Summary:

Seacă Valley, located in the Bihor Mountains, originates in the heart of Groapa Ruginoasă. The canyon it carves is a natural theater where each waterfall, rock, and stone nook tells stories of the relentless forces of water shaping it through erosion. A notable highlight of the canyon is Groapa Ruginoasă itself, a unique geological phenomenon in Romania, impressive for its grandeur and reddish-yellow hues. The Seacă Valley canyon offers a journey into the wild heart of nature, in a perfect setting, an adventure not to be missed.
