Summary: (machine translated)
Very alpine canyon, for the summer, in spring it can have high flows due to the thaw. Caution with the trunks and rock falls.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
At some point, although unverified

Access: (machine translated)
By the N260 to Sort, once there we turn off on the C13 to Llavorsi.
In Llavorsí, just at the entrance, after the bridge we turn right onto the L504 to Alins/Ribera de Cardós/Tavascán following the river Cardós, a wide and magnificent valley. After almost 4kms we will have a traffic circle, we will continue on the left to Tavascan.
We will arrive to this beautiful village and follow the Boavi track for about 1km. We will see the Boldís waterfall on our right and a track on the right where we will park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will cross the Lladorre river and, on the orographic right of the Boldís, we will ascend through the forest in a steep climb. Further on, some rocky projections will force us to use our hands and then some small slopes to go down to the riverbed.

Tour: (machine translated)
Almost all the rappels are steep, slippery and in some cases quite steep, where we will have to fight with the force of the water.

Return: (machine translated)
We will arrive at the Lladorre river, cross it and return to the car.
