Summary:

Hydrology: (machine translated)
One, when the ravine opens up, before the bridge on our left.

Access: (machine translated)
We will take the C-16 towards the tunnel to the Cadi tunnel. Before reaching Guardiola de Berguerá and after crossing a tunnel we will take the B-400 to our left towards Saldes. Once past the campsite Berguerá, we will reach a sharp bend with a bridge that crosses the torrent of Bosoms, before crossing the bridge we must park the vehicle (the left fits a car and two cars on the right).

Approach: (machine translated)
To access the ravine we will cross the bridge walking from which we can evaluate the flow, we will take the path that comes out just after left uphill. Once at the top, we will leave a bridge that crosses the ravine to the left, we will continue straight downhill to the bed of the ravine.

Tour: (machine translated)
Short but well excavated canyon, quite slippery in some projections. It consists of three rappels. With good flow you can jump the first one, the second one can be climbed, being the last rappel under the bridge the only obligatory one. Quite old facilities (rusty spits).

Return: (machine translated)
Once we reach the dam after the last rappel under the bridge, we will climb to the left on a small plate and then go up a steep slope to the road.
