Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Corinth, drive to Pisia and turn off about 1 km east of the church onto a paved road that soon becomes a dirt track. At a clearing, you can see the path from the exit on the left and park your vehicle.

Approach: (machine translated)
Follow the slope first in a southerly direction, then in an easterly direction for about 20 minutes, after which you will recognize a streambed on the left and take the first path downhill.

Tour: (machine translated)
The canyon then begins completely unexpectedly, which starts beautifully incised and remains so until the exit.

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel, follow the path on the left back to the vehicle in a few minutes.

Nice little dry canyon close to Milon, but not as pretty. Everything was fine.

Unexpectedly beautiful dry canyon, which is easy to do in combination with the Milon. (machine translated)
