Summary: (machine translated)
rappel canyon

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Canyon with little water. It probably carries water more frequently in the winter months.

Access:

Approach: (machine translated)
If you have an off-road car, you can halve the access by driving to the exit and then following the path that winds through the bushes until you reach the stream.

Tour: (machine translated)
The tour has little water overall, most of it only comes at the last rappel. There are often paths around standing pools on the orographic right-hand side.

Return: (machine translated)
From the 25 Fontes, follow the path to the left back to the road. At the first inn you can also take the bus up to the road.
