Summary: (machine translated) rappel canyon
Hydrology: (machine translated) Canyon with little water. It probably carries water more frequently in the winter months.
Access:
Approach: (machine translated) If you have an off-road car, you can halve the access by driving to the exit and then following the path that winds through the bushes until you reach the stream.
Tour: (machine translated) The tour has little water overall, most of it only comes at the last rappel. There are often paths around standing pools on the orographic right-hand side.
Return: (machine translated) From the 25 Fontes, follow the path to the left back to the road. At the first inn you can also take the bus up to the road.
