Summary: (machine translated)
A classic of the Pyrenees, it is continuous, with great quantity of flow, large waterfalls and spectacular panoramic views of the valley and Panticosa spa. Sporty descent for its high flow, very slippery and very cold water, ideal for summer.
The access is by the GR11 to Bachimaña, very comfortable and easy. And the return is immediate because it ends at the spa.

Hydrology:
Continuos

Access: (machine translated)
To reach Panticosa we will take the N260 from Sabiñánigo to Biescas and then continue towards France. After passing the Bubal Reservoir we will have the detour to the right to Panticosa, which we reach in 3kms. We leave the village to one side and continue to the Spa. We park in the parking lot in front of the Casa de Piedra refuge.

Approach: (machine translated)
Following the marks of the GR towards the Bachimaña refuge we will climb the first slopes seeing the descent to be made on our right. In this section we can perfectly evaluate the flow. If we continue a little further we will reach a small plain (the Bozuelo) where we leave the path and approach the river.

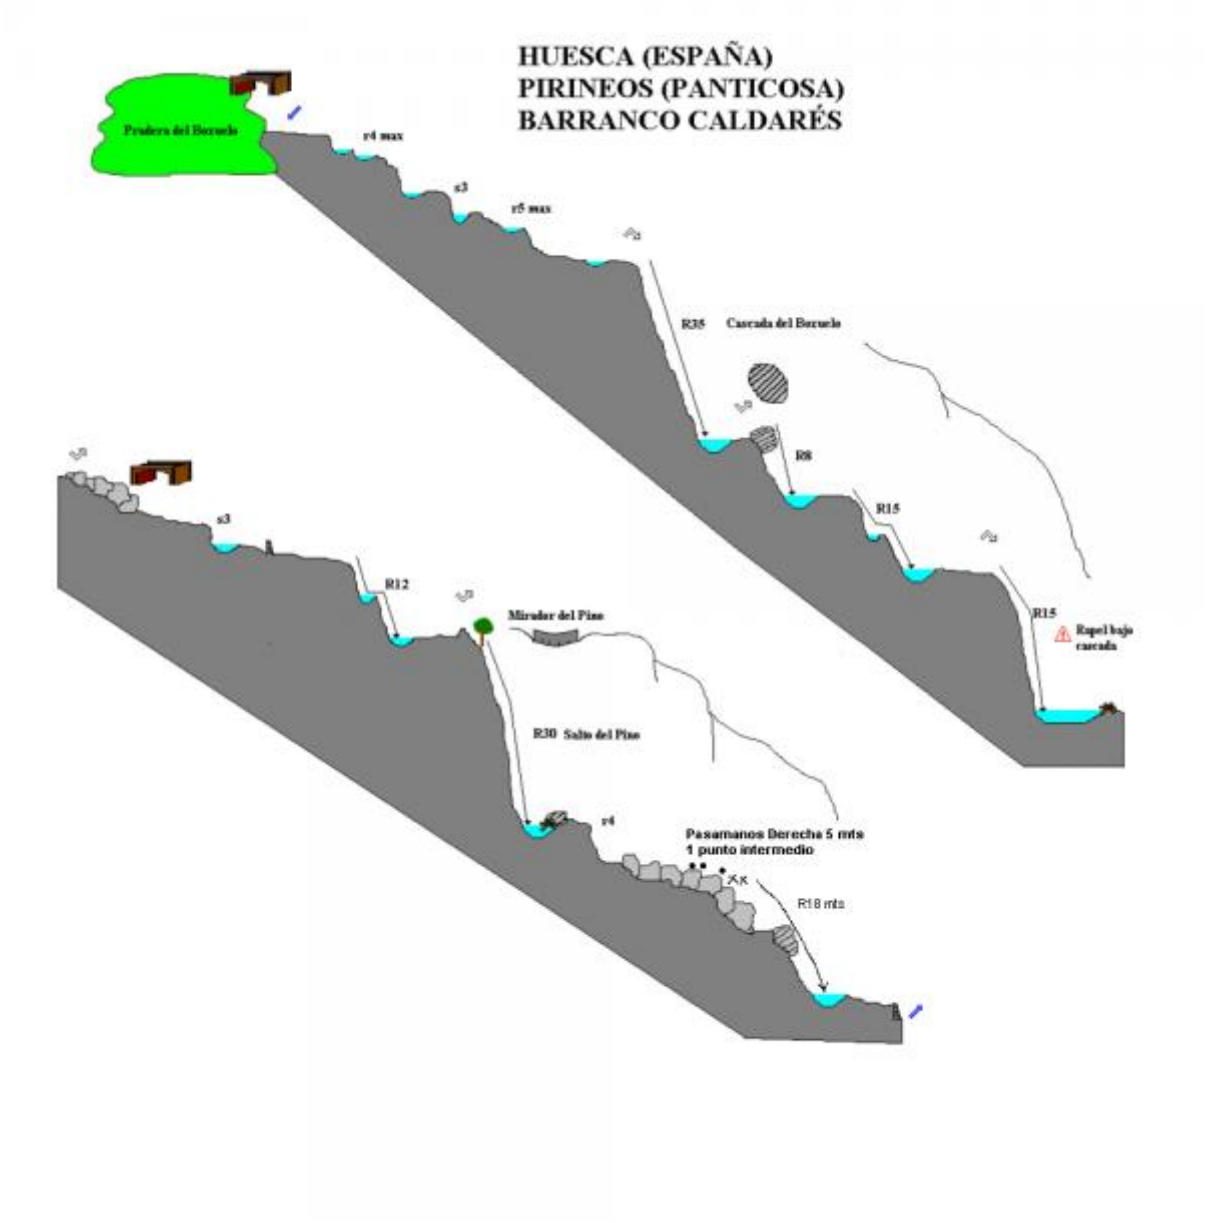

Tour: (machine translated)
Cold, slippery, continuous descent, with abundant water and breathtaking views. If we have problems we can get out at almost any waterfall to the access road.

Return: (machine translated)
Immediate, it ends at the power plant next to the refuge.
