Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon with good rappels and a movie ending. In summer avoid central hours, in the afternoon it is in the shade.
Perfect to combine with the ferrata in this beautiful protected area.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
This is stated in other reviews but they are not very clear.

Access: (machine translated)
From Benidorm we will take the CV70 towards La Nucia. Arriving at La Nucia we will continue on the CV70 to Polop. Going around both towns we will arrive at the traffic circle before the p.k. 41 where we will go left to the residential area, along Av Balcón.
We will go up this avenue to the top, here there is a street on the left that continues towards the mountains, we will continue until we reach the parking lot of the Heliport (or ferrata Ponoig).

Approach: (machine translated)
On the path heading SW towards the Cova Fumá, when we get there we will go to the watercourse on the right that we will climb along a less clear path. Without reaching the end we will see another watercourse with vegetation in which we will get in search of the first rappel.

Tour: (machine translated)
Quite a dressed and entertaining descent with the culmination of the final rappel.

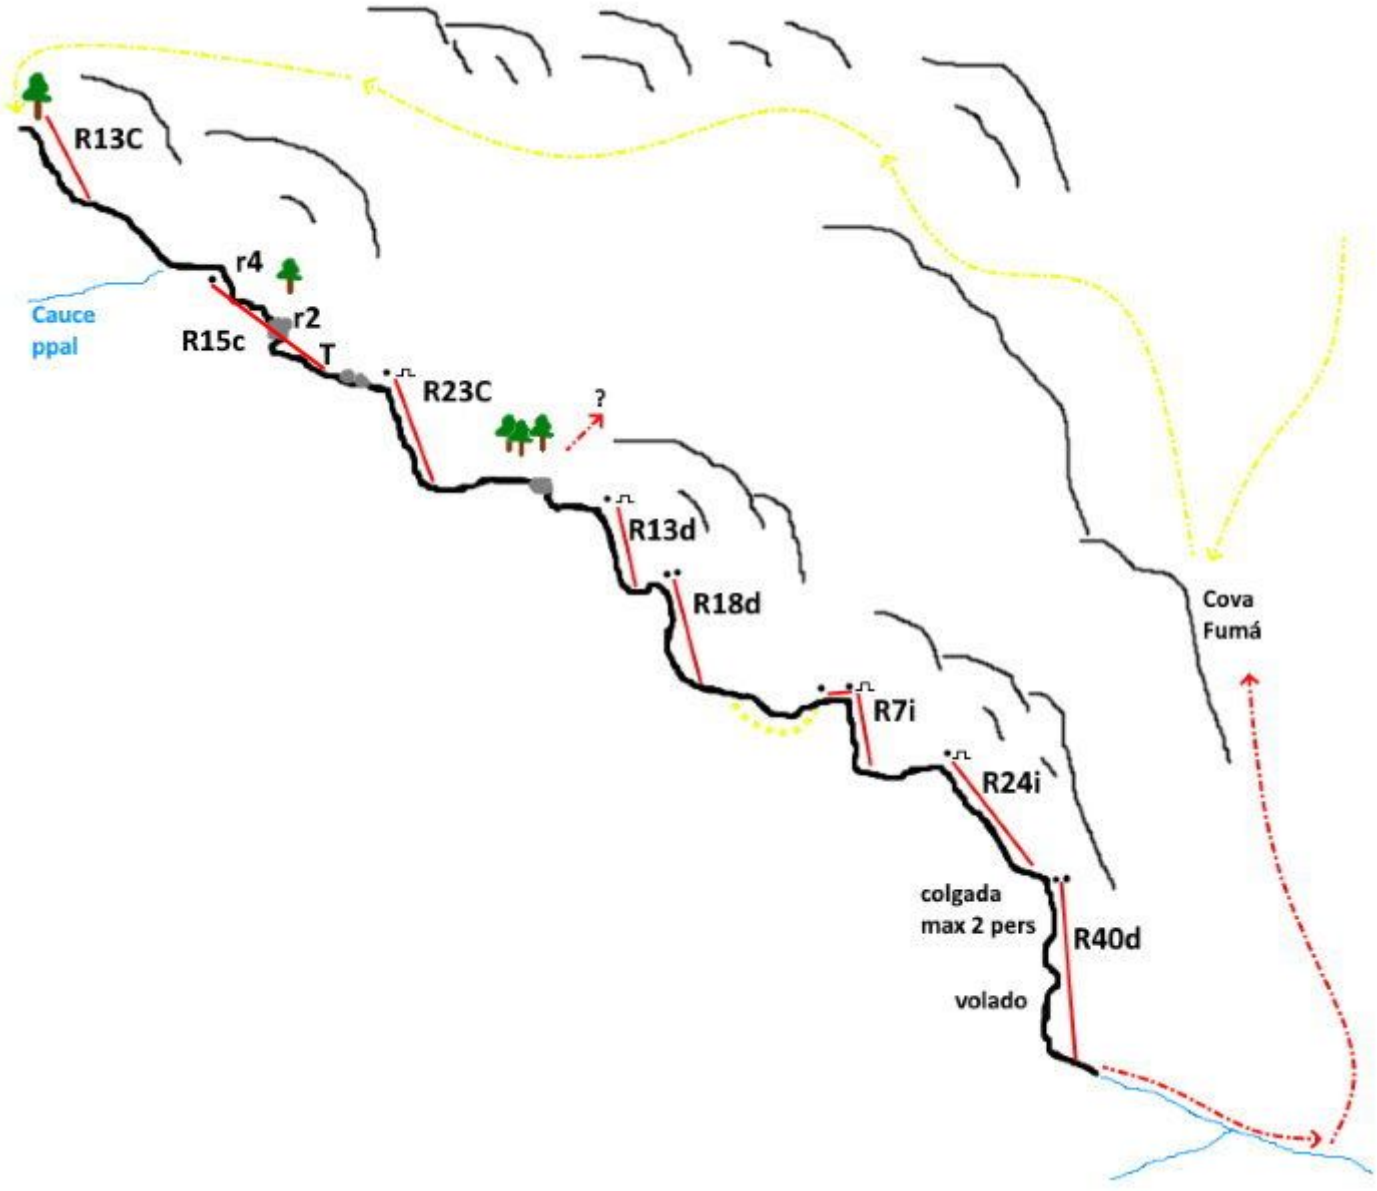

Return: (machine translated)
At the bottom of the cave there is a path to the left that leads to the Fuma Cave.
