Summary: (machine translated)
One of the canyons of the Gran Rey Valley, in rainy season can be a beast so be careful, but with the right flow we will remove bad smells and enjoy its 3km, 14 rappels and thousands of destrepes in an impressive environment, rooms, gorges, basaltic columns ... we will not miss anything. An essential of the island that we will have to do with combination of cars.

Hydrology:
No

Access: (machine translated)
How to get to Valle del Gran Rey
We will need two cars to get to Valle del Gran Rey. The return car stays at Casa de la Seda, there is a parking lot and a sign with the path that leads to the waterfall (our return).
With the access car we will continue climbing towards Arure, throughout the climb we will have stunning views to our left of the ravine. Halfway up we will find the parking of the viewpoint of Palmarejo (tributary and bank on the left of our descent). We continue until we reach the village where we will find the detour to the left to the Ermita del Santo, we will enter and after 200m in the right curve we park. We will have the reservoir and the ravine just below us.

Approach: (machine translated)
Bcos Valle del Gran Rey
A few meters further back we have a track that goes down to the dam. When we reach it, we climb to the right and we will be at the head of the cirque.

Tour: (machine translated)
A first impressive cirque with two rappels of 12 and 60m, clouded by the pipe that pours from the village. From here on it is very boxed in, with a succession of small cirques and abseilings until reaching the Arure waterfall, a place where it is easy to find hikers approaching along the path from Casa de Seda.

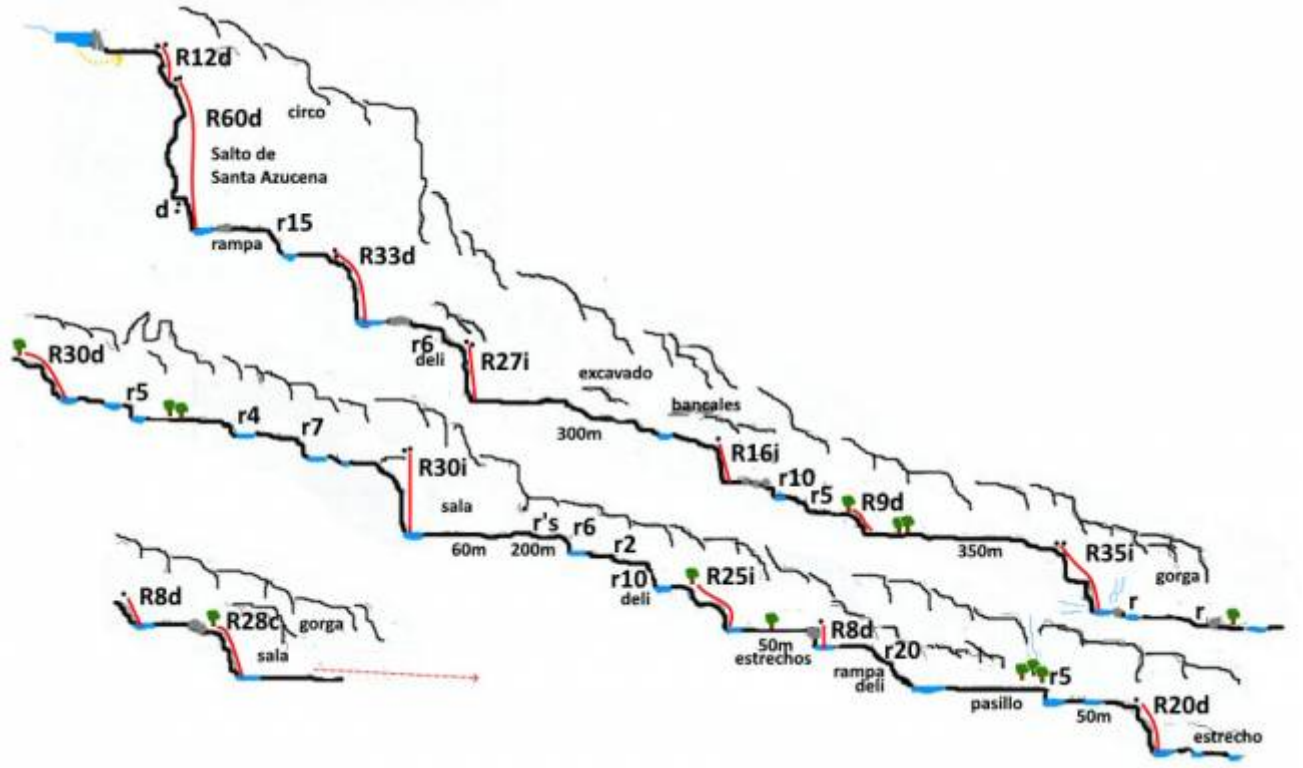

Return: (machine translated)
Along the path to Casa de Seda
