Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Simple ravine, dry, with one of the biggest trap pits that we can find.
It seems to be forbidden for nesting from January 1st to June 30th (to be verified).

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Not on the sporting side

Access: (machine translated)
We must be located in Benissa, if we go by the Ap7 we will take the N332.
Once on the N332 we will go towards Calpe, just at the exit of Benissa we will have the detour to the right to the CV750 to Xaló and after 200m turn left to the CV749 (Pinos and Serra Bernia).
We will leave Pinos behind and continue straight on towards Puerto de Bernia.
Just at pk 19 there is a small chapel on the left and a small road, also on the left, forks right there and we take the one on the right to go down to Partida Pinos, where we cross the dry riverbed and park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We follow the watercourse towards the gap of the sierra

Tour: (machine translated)
A first part without any interest, just walking to get to the sport section.
The sport section starts with a rappel with a diverter to avoid a trap pit from which you can get out, we will continue with a couple of more rappels before the R17 that leaves us in the imposing trap pit.

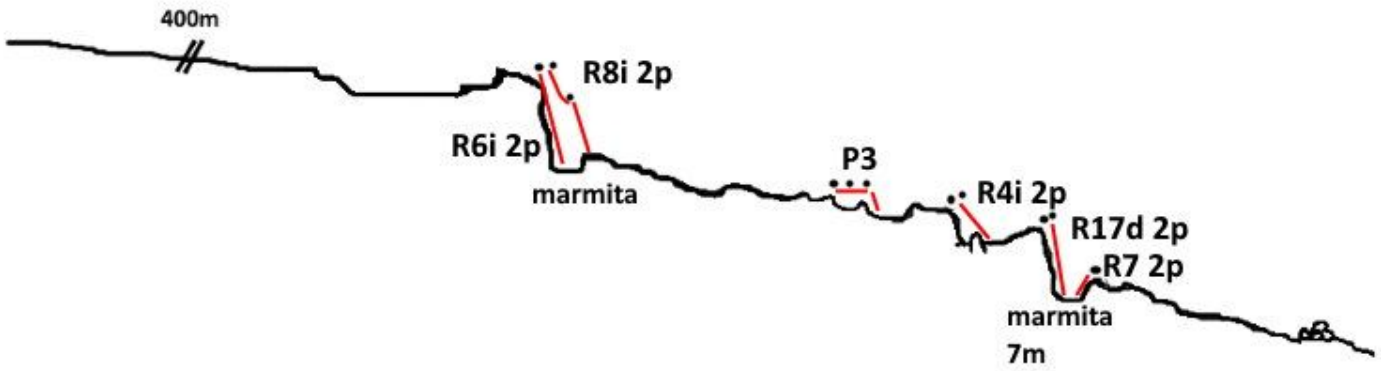

Return: (machine translated)
After the exit ramp we will see a milestone and a little marked path to the left that goes to a pass to the other side. It only remains to go down to the track and follow it to the car.
Another option is to leave installed in fixed and go up the ravine. We will have to take enough ropes
