Summary: (machine translated)
Vertical canyon, with many areas of loose rock and delicate and exposed areas. Long access and return

Hydrology: (machine translated)
After the first girdle on the left

Access: (machine translated)
On the N240 between Jaca and Pamplona, just to reach Puente de la Reina we have the detour to the Valle de Hecho (A176).
We will cross the village of Hecho and continue climbing towards the Selva de Oza, halfway we will have a detour to the refuge of Gabardito.

Approach: (machine translated)
We will leave by the GR towards El Foratón and before arriving we will turn to the left by the path that goes up the Secús ravine towards the Pico Agüerri. We will come out onto a grassy meadow and we will see the upper part of the Faixas cirque on the left. We will leave the path to go in search of this cirque which we will enter at an altitude of about 1900m.

Tour: (machine translated)
Dizzying descent, with no time to catch your breath. At all times we will be rappelling, climbing or descending through quite exposed rocky areas. It will only take water when the rest goes high, that yes, in case of flow a lot of caution because the rappels are through the waterfalls.

Return: (machine translated)
We will continue down almost to the river where we will find a track that will take us to the access track to Gabardito.

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 42.7941 -0.6880
