Dry canyon, entertaining and very used by companies in the area.

Hydrology:
No

Access: (machine translated)
We will be located in Alcala de Júcar.
We take from the town the small road that leads to Tolosa and we will follow it until the end, in the surroundings of the Tranco del Lobo Hydroelectric Power Station.

Approach: (machine translated)
We go back towards the bridge, cross it and go up the track that winds through the cuts to the top. There we will see another worse track on the right that we will take about 400m to find a track / path on the right that gets us into the dry creek that goes to the cuts.

Tour: (machine translated)
Open canyon very used by companies in the area so many rappels have double facilities, there are fixed handrails and climbs with knotted ropes for easy access.
The second rappel, although short, is beautiful because of its ledge and overhanging exit. We will have a walking area and just at the end the last three rappels in a row.

Return: (machine translated)
A path on the right leads to the bridge.
