Summary: (machine translated)
Nice but too short descent. Formerly the Caleyón de las Barbadas was combined with another downhill section from above the clogged dam, nowadays all that part belongs to the national park and is forbidden.
Caution with high flows.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Getting to Arenas de Cabrales on the AS-114 road
Towards Panes, almost arriving at the p.k. 37, a soft left curve, the bridge, the village,... we park here.
In case the regulation changes one day and you can access through Caleyón, you will have to go up towards Oceño for about 2kms.

Approach: (machine translated)
Bcos Caleyón, Mildón and access to part outside of the park.
By the road that goes up to Oceño, from the second or third left curve of the road you can go down to the riverbed with great care.

Tour: (machine translated)
Too short but very beautiful in beauty, the prohibition of descent for belonging to the park has left this descent in something insubstantial...

Return: (machine translated)
We pass under the road, cross the Cares and head to the footbridge to cross the river to the road.
