Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Very easy dry canyon in beautifully polished marble. (Holes of the Giants)

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Even after rain, the canyon quickly runs out of water. However, the grass-covered rock in the ascent must be dry otherwise it will be tricky.

Access:

Approach: (machine translated)
The real difficulty lies in the ascent. The sloping slabs require safe climbing at grade II. There are enough anchors for the ascent.
The grass-covered rock in the ascent must be dry otherwise it will be tricky.

From the SP13, follow the orange markings from point 44.0615267N, 10.2879448E. Then climb on the orographic left side following the yellow markings. Later, follow the markings again at the bottom of the gorge. After the "waterfall" 44.0660266N, 10.2841258E you can continue to follow the markings or start the descent with them.

Tour: (machine translated)
Equipment super, ascent hooks not quite so super but they should be enough for the sloping slabs.

Marmitte dei Giganti Extinguisher of the Giants Very easy dry canyon in beautifully polished marble. The real difficulty lies in the ascent. The sloping slabs require safe climbing in grade II. There are enough anchors for the ascent. Even after rain, the canyon quickly runs out of water. However, the grass-covered rock in the ascent must be dry otherwise it will be tricky. Great equipment, ascent bolts not quite so great but they should be enough for the sloping slabs. From SP13, follow the orange markings from point 44.0615267N, 10.2879448E.
