Summary: (machine translated)
Short canyon that in winter (with snow) can be very interesting and in summer it is usually dry. Perfect to combine with Tarán.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
In the middle of the ravine

Access: (machine translated)
Image of Peña Campanario and Tarán ravines
We approach Torrebarrio by the LE481, at the foot of the massif of Peña Ubiña and its magnificent views. After passing the village we continue 1.8kms to a small clearing on the left where we park or 100m before we take the small track to the right that leads to a cattle farm. If we access by the track we must be careful to leave the vehicle in such a way that it does not hinder us.

Approach: (machine translated)
Image of Peña Campanario and Tarán ravines.
The approach is joint for Peña Campanario and Tarán. Before the livestock farm we take a path to the left that climbs halfway up the slope flanking the cirque in which we can see a crack in front (Tarán ravine) and begins to glimpse another more to the left Peña Campanario. We will follow this path above the ravine until we reach the entrance funnel.

Tour: (machine translated)
4 rappels and a few cliffs that we will have completed in one hour.

Return: (machine translated)
The gully ends almost at the road that leads up to it

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 43.0365 -5.9858
