Summary: (machine translated)
Next to the Balcés Superior, this is probably the longest canyon in the Sierra de Guara, especially if you exit via the adjoining Barrasil. Varied and with fun potential.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
On the N-240 from Lleida or on the A-138 from France through the tunnel from Bielsa via Ainsa to Barbastro. Take the ring road around the town and continue on the N-240 towards Huesca. About 22 km after Barbastro, turn right onto the A-1229. Via Abiego and Bierge (turn left after Abiego) we come to Rodellar (approx. 30 km from the turn-off from the N-240).\n\nIf we have 2 cars available, one can be parked at "Camping El Puente" at Alcanadre (about 600 m before Rodellar, take the tarred road steeply down to the left (signpost).

Approach: (machine translated)
In Rodellar, follow the signs to Barranco Mascun. We descend to the stream, cross it and come to the spring on the right. We continue northwards, turning left up the Bco Fornocal de Andrebot. We emerge from the bushes and stand on an open plateau. The main path continues to the right towards Nazarre and the entry to Gorgas Negras. We follow it through the "Vallon de los Moros" and reach the "losa Mora" dolmen at the top, which is slightly off to the right. Here you may be able to enjoy the view of the snow-covered peaks of the main Pyrenean ridge. Continue in a northerly direction towards the ruins of Nasarre. Pass it on the left and at the last house no longer follow the track half-right downhill to the entry as before, but follow the tracks half-left, which merge into a path that descends on the left-hand slope. It brings us to the entry just before the first narrowing.

Tour: (machine translated)
At the beginning, mostly flat pools alternate with smaller gradients. Then the descent becomes varied. Rappels (almost all jumpable), smaller passages in the souterrain and we come to the striking pot. If there is little water flow in summer, it is jumpable from the left from a crouched position, if there is a lot of water flow, it can be abseiled on the right over the 20 m wall. Then a narrow passage. A noticeably cold karst spring in the following large pools. At the right-angled bend, the more athletic part is largely behind us. This is followed by chaos, running sections, a few possible jumps and then the large pool into which you can jump from a great height. Alternatively, you can dive into the pool from the left-hand edge of the rock through a small cook under the large cover plate. Jumps can also be repeated here via this "path" in the opposite direction. Despite the beauty of the scenic landscape, it is now a somewhat tiring walk out to the large meadow with the spring and the poplars at the beginning of the Barrasil.

Return: (machine translated)
Either continue in the Alcanadre through the Barrazil (see there) or climb up to the left and after the flat saddle descend on the approach path to the right to the Mascun and back to Rodellar.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Gorgas Negras Magnifique descente, mais eau marron marron MARRON, difficile de percevoir plus profond que la cheville ce qui rend la descente longue, très longue. Il faut chercher le relai de corde sous les rochers 1 m a gauche du haut de la dernière C8. Enchainé avec Barrasil, eau opaque également.. mais quand on aime les défies.. Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Gorgas Negras Grosse journée ! 3h15 d'approche, près de 8h de descente avec les pauses, les jeux, photos...C'est très beau, même si cela ressemble plus à de la randonnée aquatique que du canyon. Peu de cordes, pas de difficultés techniques. Il faut juste de l'endurance. Le secteur des marmites est splendide ! Deux relais en mauvais état mais il y a d'autres possibilités pour descendre. Un relais pas facile à trouver; chercher à gauche de la vasque au dessus de la cascade, sangles autour d'une concrétion. Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Gorgas Negras Bonnes conditions, eau limpide, DC, équipement ok. Le dernier rappel est à trouver sur une racine en RG.Canyon assez éprouvant sur la durée; beaucoup de nage et marche en blocs.Magnifique sur toute la descente on en finit pas des vasques turquoises et falaises immenses surplombant le canyon.Très belle mission à faire uniquement en bonnes conditions météo + débit.
