Summary: (machine translated)
Relatively open forest canyon for rappeling

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Fano on the Adriatic on the SS 3 towards Rome, after almost 50 km turn off at Cagli and head west along the Fiume Busso to Pianello (approx. 12 km). From here, head northwest via Massa to Serravalle di Carda, turning right at a sharp angle to the cemetery (cimitero) just before reaching the village. Park your car here for access. Take the second car back along the access road for 3.8 km and descend to a bridge with a large square on the left, a spring and another bridge over the Trilla stream. Park the lower car here.

Approach: (machine translated)
Past the cemetery, follow a dirt road that is also taken by sentiero n. 25. After about 500 m, turn right off the dirt road onto an inconspicuous path (look for it!). This crosses the Fosso Cornacchia below a waterfall (if you reach the Cornacchia on the track, you have missed the branching path and have to go back!) Now continue along the path at about the same altitude (partly marked). After about 1 hour a path joins from the right at a sharp angle, coming from below. Now another 20 min. slightly uphill, over a rocky and panoramic mountain shoulder and on the other side down into the streambed. View-rich access.

Tour: (machine translated)
25 rappel; exit possibility at the foot of the highest rappel.

Return: (machine translated) before the bridge out to the right and in 10 min. to the lower car.
