Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Recently re-equipped it is a canyon with a lot of entity that lacks water, if we manage to do it with good flow we will enjoy.
Access with combination of cars something loser and "jabalinesco", if we opt for the option of a single car we will have to take scissors of pruning for, between all, to be able to be able to be doing way.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Yes, but complicated by the terrain

Access: (machine translated)
By the C63 until pk 44
We will take the detour to Pantà de Susqueda, along this road we will go about 6kms to a quarry, we will park on a side where we will not disturb.
If we have two cars (recommended option) we will return to the road and go up to Amer, in the village we will take the detour to the left to Sant Martí Sacalm.
On this beautiful zigzagging road, between lush forests we will go up to the small village, in the village we will continue straight ahead and followed by the small road on the left, after a kilometer a track on the left in a sharp bend and 800m later a fence prevents us from continuing. Time to park

Approach: (machine translated)
We will follow the track that goes to Can Bernat and then take the track on the right, this track turns south, passes a hill and begins to go down south. From the hill, after 300m we leave the track and go to the right on another track that we will follow 1km until a left curve, here we take the traces of a kind of path and begins the wild boar to the river in an easterly direction.
For a single car it is better to follow the track ;)

Tour: (machine translated) see sketch

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the track we take it to the left to go down through the quarry to the car.
