Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Simple canyon without much, except for heavy rains its flow is quite low and the approach is worth it for the environment but it is long and hard for what the canyon provides.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
In the fattened part it is impossible, although it should not be a problem.

Access: (machine translated)
We will take the A12 to Nájera to take the LR113 and go up the Najerilla river. After passing the pk 34 we find the detour to the left to Brieva de Cameros by the LR232. When we reach the village we cross it and park.

Approach: (machine translated)
We leave by the GR towards Ortigosa, soon the track turns right, crosses the stream and heads towards the rocks of the staircase. We will see a path that goes to our left and climbs to the top of the rocks, leaving the ravine on the right. We will go up until we reach the top and follow the cliffs towards the south until we see that we can access the ravine.

Tour: (machine translated)
Simple, fattened and if it carries enough water it is aesthetic and interesting although excessively short and simple. Only 4 rappels and a few skills

Return: (machine translated)
We will follow the riverbed until we can get out to the GR track.

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 42.1595 -2.7731
