Summary: (machine translated)
Dry except after rains, with approach and return by track that is not usually in good condition for cars. Natural anchorages.
Caution with the Cervol river, do not cross it with the car if it carries water.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Before the groga

Access: (machine translated)
We must get to Vallibona
On the N232 towards Morella take the CV111 to Vallibona (16kms), cross the village towards Rossel. We will continue for about 8 kms.
With the access car until we find a track on the right that goes back to the Masia de Talás, crosses the riverbed and goes up the slope towards the Mas de Vives.
With the return car we continue a little further to another track that goes to the right with a 30 sign. We will cross the Cervol 5 times until we reach the Ferreres lake, we get into this track and go up as far as we can.
Both tracks can be done well in 4×4, in tourism ... not so much.

Approach: (machine translated)
See access by car.

Tour: (machine translated)
Gully in the middle of a Mediterranean forest, with a small fattened area... It is very collector's, a lot of walking and access area and not very comfortable returns.

Return: (machine translated)
We will arrive at the Ferreres bank, through its track we will go down to the car.
