Summary: (machine translated)
Alt Garrotxa ravine, torrential but in an enviable environment. In years of good rains it is a marvel to walk through these forests.
It is a simple descent with rappels up to 30m. Access almost immediate and comfortable return, to complete the information is best to talk to the openers, the EGAN group for possible changes in the topography

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Yes, although complicated by the forest

Access: (machine translated)
Situated between Olot and Besalú on the A26, in Argelaguer we will exit to take the GI523 to Tortellà.
Once in the village we will see the detour to the right on the GIV-5236 to Sales de Llierca, before the kilometer the road turns north towards Can Bosc and a few kilometers later we have the detour to the left towards Monteia, from this point it is more forest track than road, although always in good condition. We will follow it until the farmhouse of Monteia. Here we will look for a place where to park without disturbing

Approach: (machine translated)
It is obvious, after passing the farmhouse the track passes over the stream, a few meters later we can go down to the right following the stream until the beginning of the difficulties.

Tour:
Ver topo

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the lower trail we will take it to the left to go up through the forest. There are pink markings all along this route.
