Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
A fairly unknown alpine torrent with a wonderful final waterfall. One drawback, a lot of logs in the development and somewhat precarious facilities.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Possible before the cascade

Access: (machine translated)
We have two possibilities and for both we have to go to Lescun. By the N134-E7 after passing the Somport pass or from Pau.
Arriving at Accous-Bedous we turn off the N134 and head towards Accous. We will have to cross the village towards the col d'Iseye and follow a small road that we will then leave to go to the right (becoming a track) following towards col d'Iseye until it crosses the Berthe river. We will park here

Approach: (machine translated)
Following the marked trail to the col d'Iseye, after leaving the forest we will have the hut of Lapassa and the torrent of the same name. We can enter here with its projections. You can access further down and enter directly to the rappels.

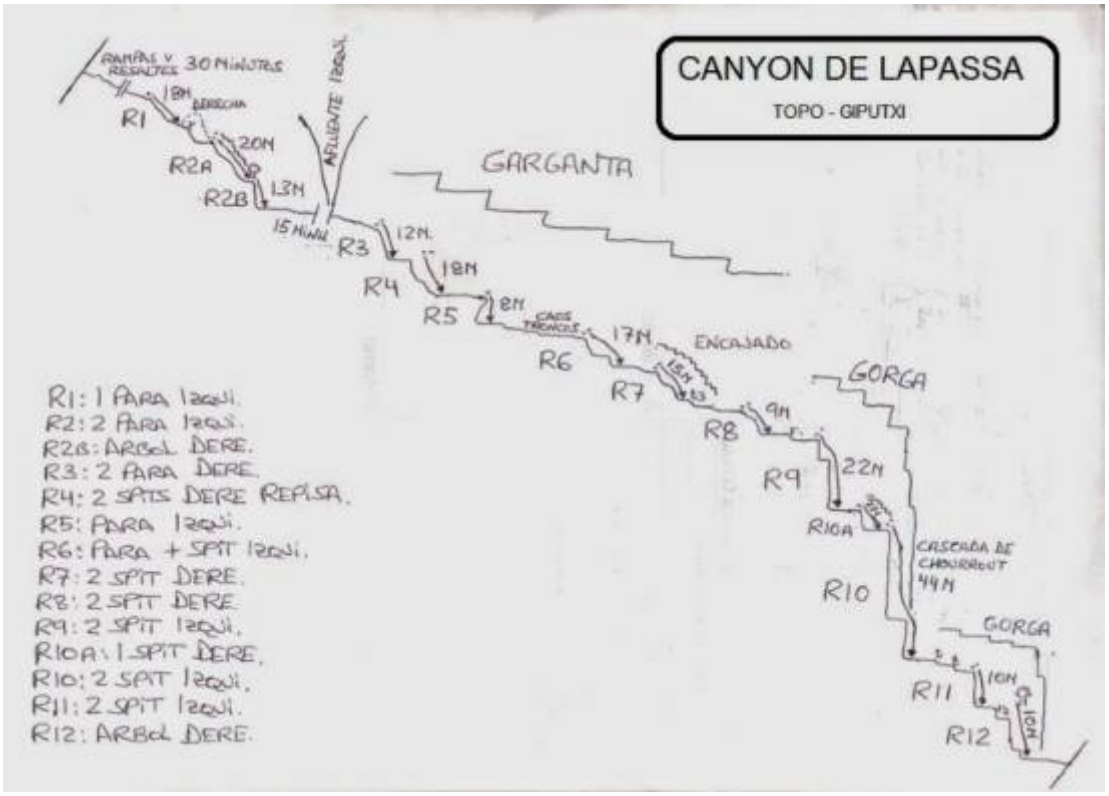

Tour: (machine translated)
Enviable environment and a wonderful final waterfall, just for that alone is worth this unknown ravine. Be careful in spring that the thaw can make it a dangerous descent.

Return: (machine translated)
After the waterfall we will have two more rappels of about 10 meters and soon a path that leads us to an overboard and to the track where we left the car.
