Summary: (machine translated)
Short and aquatic rappel canyon with grotto

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Karpenisi in southwestern direction to Prousos (31 km). From here continue in a southerly direction. We leave the main road to Thermos/Lampiri to the right, continue straight towards Kastania and come down to the bridge over the Prousos at the exit of the Mavri Spilia canyon. Here we park our car.

Approach: (machine translated)
From here you can first take the footpath up the stream, later the via ferrata, which brings us to the entry.
Alternative access: From the bridge (on foot or with a second car) about 700 m back on the approach path, but then left at the junction. Now about 150m on the slightly ascending road, then in a right-hand bend our access path goes off to the left uphill. Here we park the vehicle for the access if necessary.
A path leads us in direction SSW up to the chapel Agios Apostolos. From here we follow the water conduit along the slope southward until an access to the streambed opens up to us on the left down into the streambed.

Tour: (machine translated)
First passages of rappeling, then some rappeling and as a highlight the grotto.

Return: (machine translated)
After the exit of the gorge and about 50 m before the 2nd iron footbridge up to the footpath and down it to the bridge.
