Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Also known as Garganta del Río Real, it is a beautiful descent, very aquatic but with cold waters. Out of summer it is very abundant and usually unfeasible. Good pools for jumps and a fairly comfortable access and return.
The long rappel is about 20-22m, not the 15m of many guides.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Possible except in narrow areas

Access: (machine translated)
We have to go to Parzán, for this we arrive at Ainsa and take the A138 towards France. After passing Bielsa we arrive at Parzán and when we pass the village we will see the detour to the left to Chisagüés. We will take this road to the village.

Approach: (machine translated)
From Chisagües we follow the track for less than a kilometer to go down to the river near a wall.

Tour: (machine translated)
Not too narrow ravine except for a couple of specific areas. Water in abundance and very cold with good pools to jump over.

Return: (machine translated)
Arriving at the village stream, we will go out on the right to go up through the meadows until we reach the road.
