Summary: (machine translated)
Rappel canyon with long descent over boulders.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
We go south from Ghisoni on fer D69 for 40 km and we arrive to Zicavo. We continue on D69 and after 1 km we come to the bridge over the Partuso (Ponte di a Camera). Here we park the car.\nIf we want to "hook" the "Camera" in the Ruisseau de Molina (same stream as at Partuso), we can park a second car in the lower southern part of the village at the church of San Bastianu.

Approach: (machine translated)
We hike back on the D69 to the northern exit of the village of Zicavo and take the hike towards "Cuzza" (orange markings). After about 45 minutes (from the end of the village), at an altitude of 1100m, we turn right from this path onto a trail that leads us in the direction of GR20-South. We cross the Ruisseau de Monte Occhiatu and immediately afterwards we look for an access down to the right into "our" stream - below a water drainage.

Tour: (machine translated)
In the first half of the descent it is varied with a loose sequence of about 8 rappel.\nBut then follow about 1.5 hours of tiring downclimb and walk to Ponte di a Camera.\n\nAlso the further descent in the "Camera" is not unattractive at the beginning, but also ends with 25 min. of rappel and downclimb to the exit at the Genoese bridge at point "649" at the south end of the village of Zicavo.

Return: (machine translated)
In each case a few meters to the car.
