Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Also known as the ravine of the stream of Jaula because of its toponymy. It is a simple canyon that can be used for initiation. Except for floods after rains it does not present any problem.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Under the bridge on the right or the last 5m rappel on the left.

Access: (machine translated)
Location Priego de Córdoba
How to get to Priego de Córdoba
Location of the ravine
On the road from Priego de Córdoba to Carcabuey (A339), at km 22. There is a track on the right where we can park, just before the bridge.

Approach: (machine translated)
Access to Genilla
We can rappel from the bridge or cross the road heading south (up the river) between the house and the river cut to find a steep path down to a dam.

Tour: (machine translated)
We start at the dam, walk about 150m of river under the bridge and see a loophole (or access) to the right that leads us to the car. Then we reach the long rappel of 15m through the middle of the waterfall. Then we have a rappel of 8m that can be made slide and even jump if the flow allows it. Finally two other small rappels to reach the dam of 7m from which we leave.

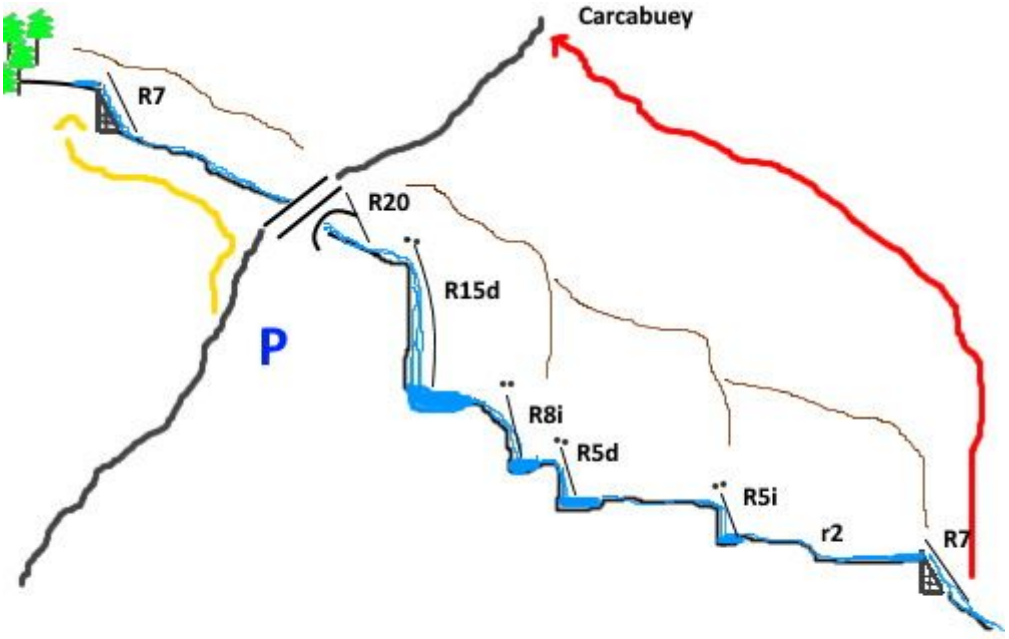

Return: (machine translated)
After the dam we find a path on the left that will lead us to the road.
