Summary: (machine translated)
Little known ravine of the Vall de Cabó, generally without water or with a thread. Given its fairly long approach and the dressed of the terrain, it can be considered a collector's canyon. In the approach there is a shortening of the access in which the first rappel is lost and half an hour of walking is shortened.

Access: (machine translated)
Cabó Valley
We will go to the town of Organyà by the C14.
Ravines Vall de Cabó, Senyús, Fondo and Caners.
Once in Organyà, direction Seu d'Urgell, in the center of the village before the right curve we have a detour to the left to Cabó. We get in here.
We follow the road all the way to Cabó, cross the bridge and here it ends, so we continue along the track to the upper part of the valley.
The track goes along the orographic left bank of the river that will take us to Anell (exit of the barranc del Fondo). At about 100m we have a track on the left that crosses the river and continue about 200m until it crosses the Torrent del Fondo. We park here

Approach: (machine translated)
We will continue along the track for 1.5 kms until a crossroads where we will take the track on the left to go up to the forest of Mas d'Encamp. Here the track, now a path, approaches the ridge, and on the left we will glimpse our ravine. We will continue until almost 1600m high (about 3.5kms from the car). Here we can turn left to go down the slope (alternative access) or continue climbing in search of the Font de les Cornasses, the original place of the beginning of the ravine.

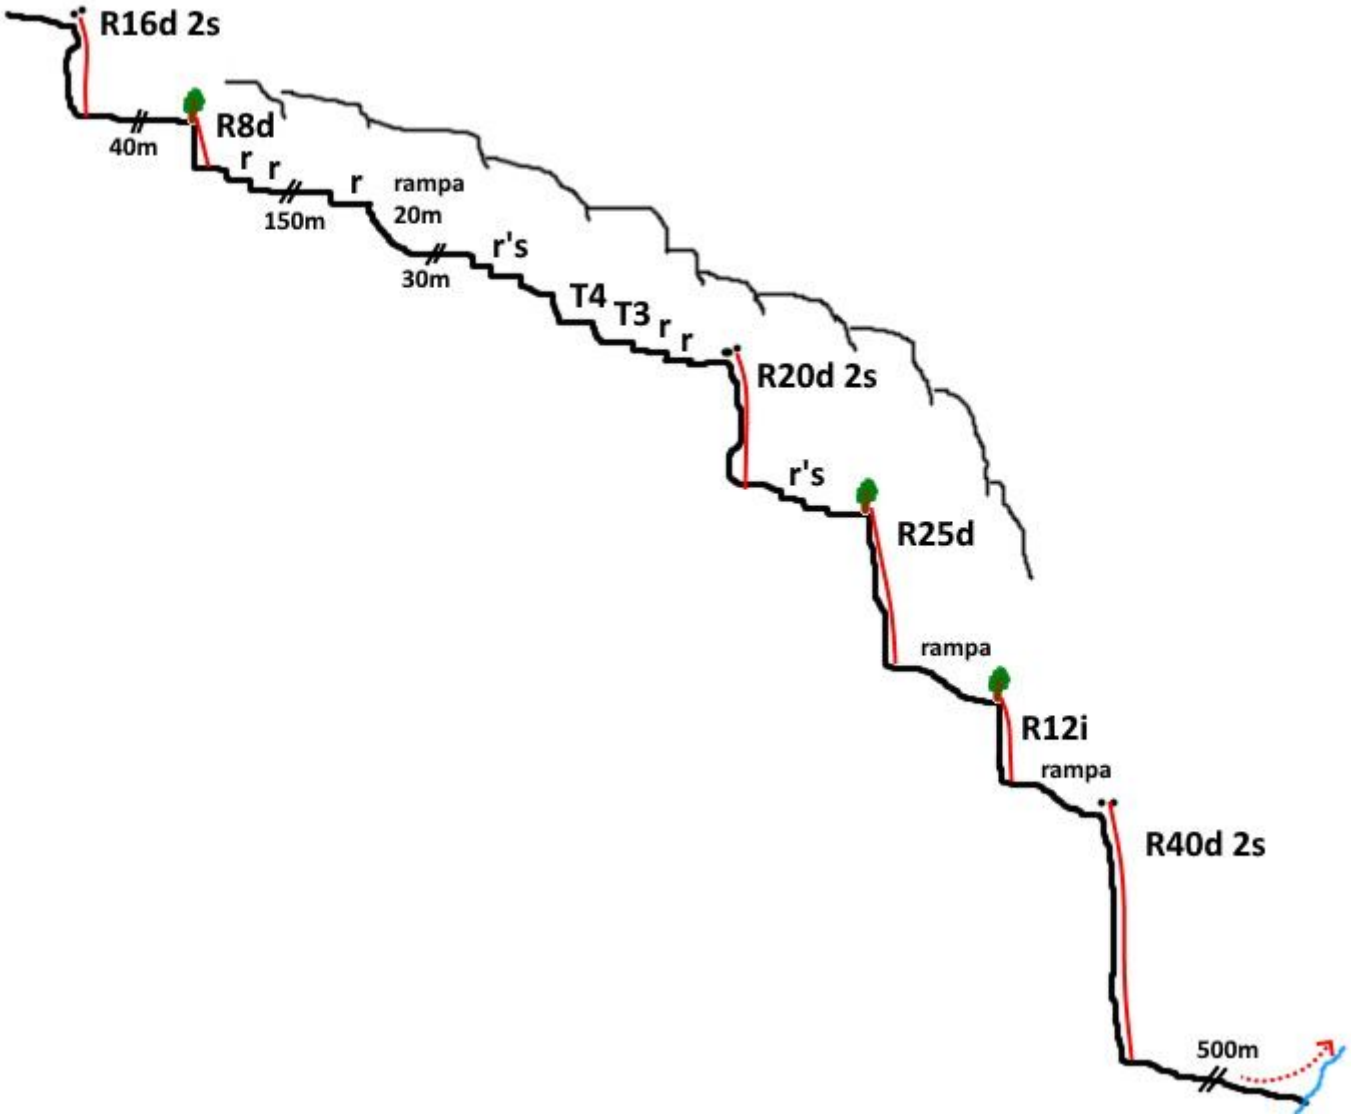

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
When we reach the confluence with the Torrent Fondo, we will take the path that goes down it.
