Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon except after heavy rains, with only 4 rappels, the last one of 30m with a cantilevered meeting, can be combined with the Toll d'En Drac canyon, they share return and approach.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Possible on the entire route except on the last rappel.

Access: (machine translated)
We will have to get to the village of Portell de Morella.
From Morella by the CV125. When we get to Portell we go into the village and after passing a warehouse we turn left and after 70 meters we will see a track on the left with trail markers. We parked.

Approach: (machine translated)
Access Bcos Rosella and Toll d'En Drac
We leave along this path to cross the Rosella river, the path turns to the right and goes halfway down the slope over the ravine, when the cuts are evident, we will see a milestone marking the descent to the right to the river.

Tour: (machine translated)
Simple except for the final rappel with a 30m long rappel and hanging belay.

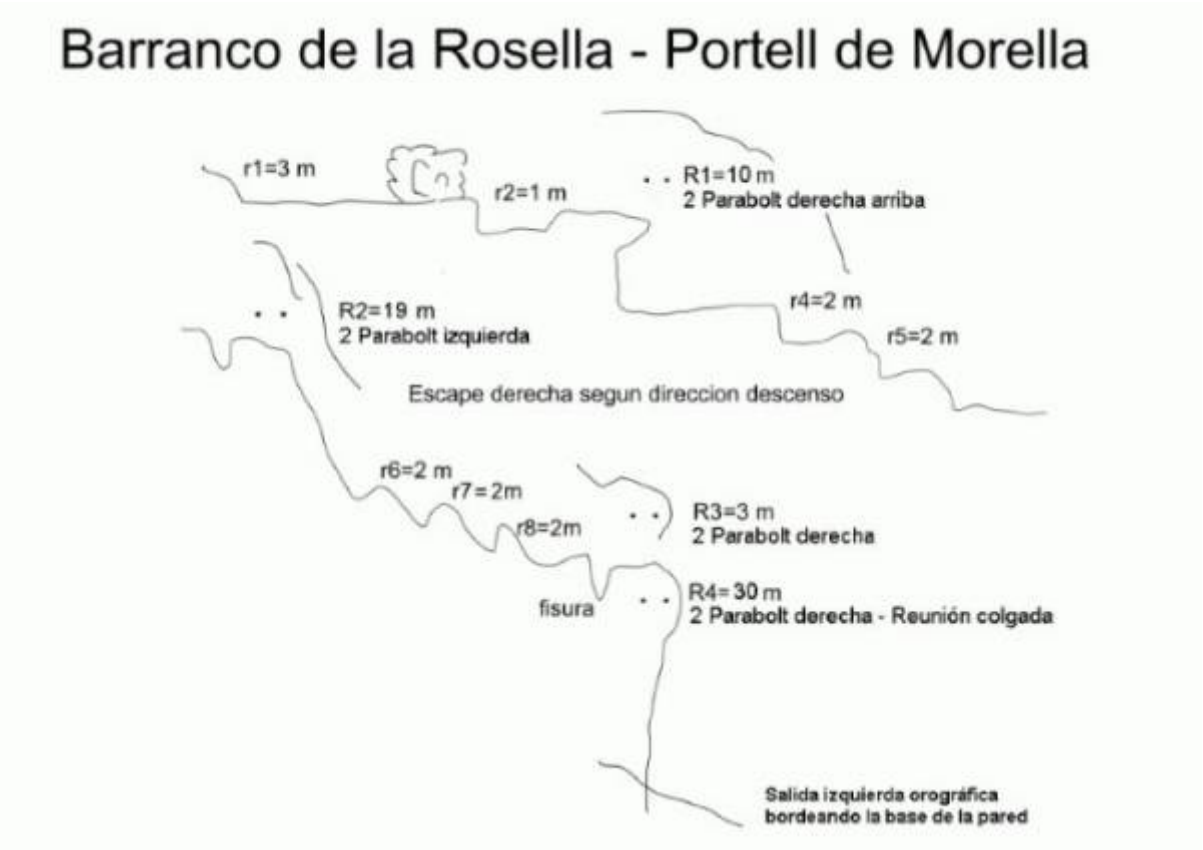

Return: (machine translated)
After the rappel we turn left on an obvious path that skirts the walls until we see that the path heads left and goes uphill. It will zig-zag up to the top where it joins the access path.
