Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Dry canyon, initiation, of torrential character, it only carries water after a lot of rain.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
After the 40m rappel, on the orographic right side.

Access: (machine translated)
You have to get to Borriol, and leave the car on the Botalaria road.

Approach: (machine translated)
Through Calvario street we will leave the village and cross a disused horse corral.
access, ravine and return (By Elvis Ente)
We follow the path, from here we will see the access ridge, we climb along the ridge (easy climbs) up to a 3+ pass that we can climb (there is a tape on a rock bridge to secure the partner) or avoid it to the left by going around the ridge. We continue along the ridge with some aerial and exposed passages until the highest part where we descend to the gully (without a path).

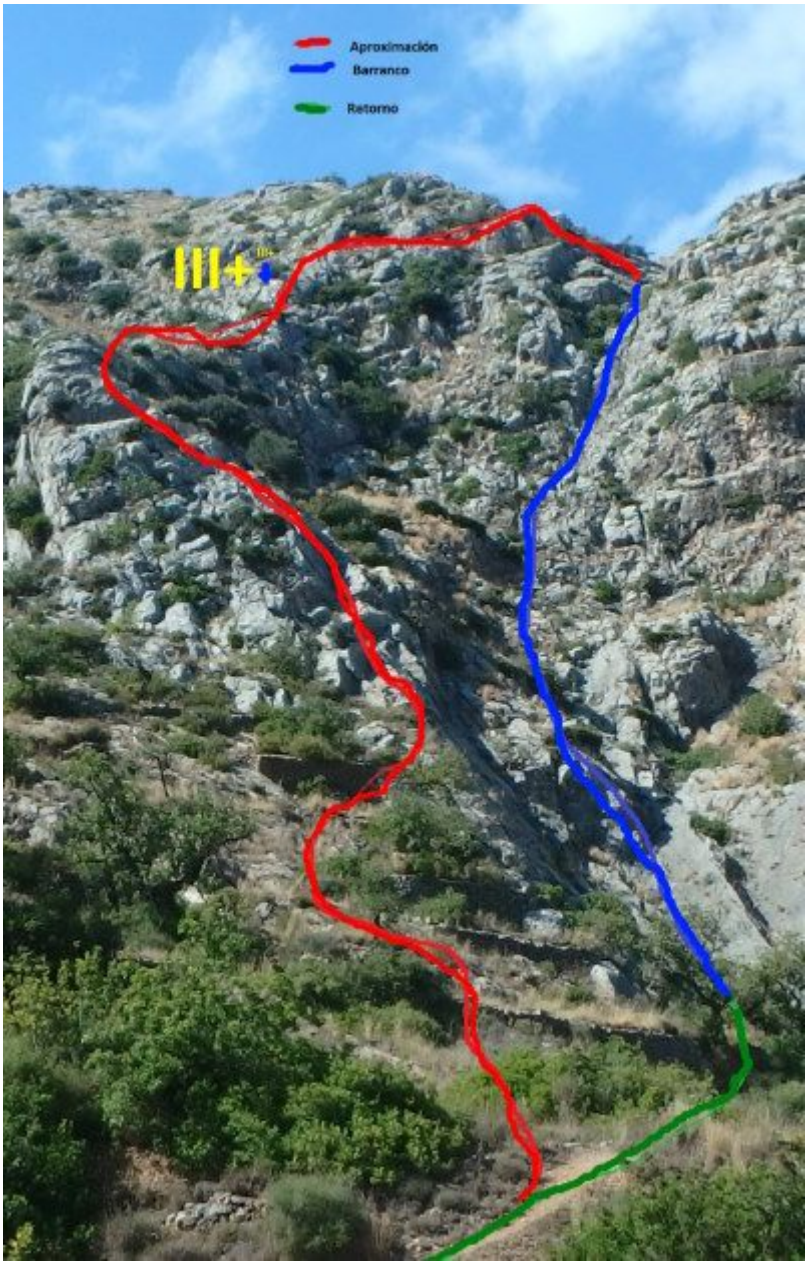

Tour: (machine translated)
There are 4 rappels in chains, with no kicker between one and the other.
The last 60m rappel could be climbable... be careful with the wet ground.

Return: (machine translated)
