Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Ravine that runs along the exit of the Otal valley and flows into the Ara. It is a canyon of great flow, very cold water and quite slippery. With high flow it is very technical and dangerous especially at the confluence with the Ara.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
In almost all the route because of its openness. In the irrigation ditch is the best moment.

Access: (machine translated)
When you reach Torla follow the Ordesa National Park road to the Puente de los Navarros, which is where the access barrier to the park is located. There take the track that goes to the left and goes up the Ara riverbed to San Nicolás de Bujaruelo. Park there.

Approach: (machine translated)
We leave by the forest track that goes up the Ara river and soon turn left towards the valley of Otal (sign). We climb and at the end of the pass we see the entrance to the ravine on the right.

Tour: (machine translated)
A fairly open descent with a succession of ramps and rappels that we will be dodging.

Return: (machine translated)
Once we reach the Ara river, we will follow its course up to the Orcins Bridge.
