Low water rappel canyon

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Zurich on the A 1 in the direction of Bern. 70 km after the "Würrenlos" rest stop (on the western outskirts of Zurich), change from the A 1 to the A 5. Passing Solothurn and the northern end of Lake Biel near Bienne, we enter the Swiss Jura. 45.5 km after leaving the A 1 onto the A 5, we turn off the A 5 onto the "Route de Bienne" (No. 30) and drive via Sombeval and Corgemont to Cortebert (7.8 km from leaving the A 5).In the center of the town, we take "Les Cheseaux" south and cross the Suze River and the railroad. Take the second road to the left after the railroad crossing and then immediately to the right and we head for the slopes of the "Foret de l'Envers". 850 m after turning "Les Cheseaux" we turn right on the road that leads southwest to a stone bridge over the Chenau de l'Envers (550 m from the last turnoff) Here we park the lower car. \nWith the second one we go back to the junction and then uphill in the "Foret de l'Envers". From the junction we go uphill for 4.1 km, then we turn right at a sharp angle. Shortly through the forest we come to a large meadow area, pass the first homestead and park our upper car at the next homestead (1 km from the last junction - 1120 m above sea level).

Approach: (machine translated)
From this homestead west to the canyon rim and then down a trail on the slope south to the creek. Entry by the bridge.

Brunner/Betrisey in their book come to the same entry point from the other side of the stream (cf. there).

Tour: (machine translated)
Pure rappel canyon with 15 rappel, no emergency exit.

Return: (machine translated)
Before the stone bridge turn right out to the car.

Automatisch importiert von Schlucht.ch für Canyon Chenau de l'Envers, Wasserstand: "Tief. Ca. 20m vor der "Pont en pierre" beim Ausstieg versickerte das Wasser." Verankerungen: "ok" An vielen Stellen sehr rutschig, besonders im unteren Teil der Schlucht. Es hat noch immer viel Holz in der Schlucht, welches aber kein Problem darstellt. Das Becken beim S2 ist aufgefüllt. Beim Ausstieg am Fuss der letzten Stufe lag ein weisser Petzl Elios Kletterhelm auf einem Baumstrunk - falls den jemand sucht...
