Specialities:

Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Torrent generally dry except after heavy rains, little frequented but quite interesting. Perfect to combine with its "brother" the Guitza torrent.

Hydrology: (machine translated)
Possible on the slopes

Access: (machine translated)
Access Canaletes
We must be located in Cabrera d'Anoia (Canaletes).
On the C15 between Igualada and Vilafranca del Penedés, at pk32 we have the detour to Canaletes, we take it and cross the village. We will pass the last houses and we will see a track on the left with a signpost to the Salt de la Mala Dona. The first stream we cross is the Torrent de Bleda and the second the Torrent de Guitza.
We park here and we can do both even in a long morning.

Approach: (machine translated)
Access to Guitza and Bleda ravines
Direct access to the stream from the salt de la Mala Dona by a path that goes to the right of the track.

Tour: (machine translated)
Only 3 rappels

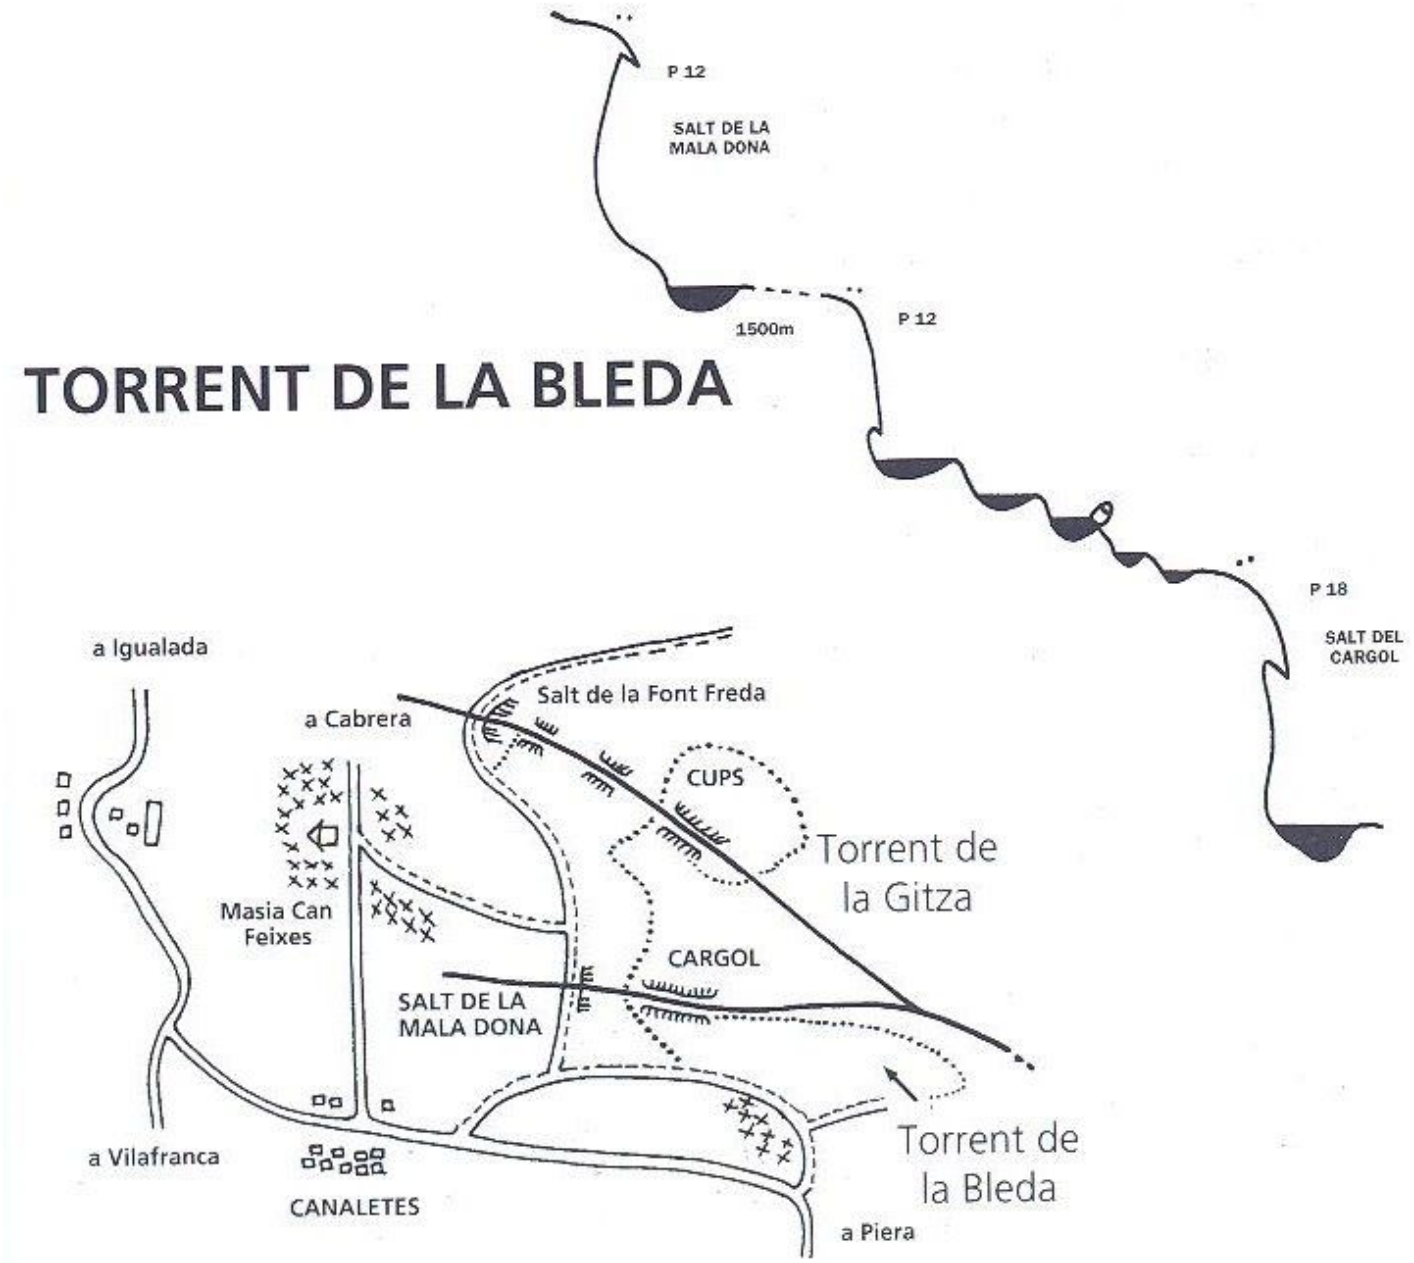

Return: (machine translated)
We will take a path to the right that leads us to a track that takes us to a track that goes up to the access track.
