It starts dry with a few steps to downclimb, then you reach the first belay on the right. Approx. 15 m. Some dry rappels follow, through a rock arch, a grotto. This is followed by the highest rappel at 35 m and a few pools that only make the rope massive. Then some rappels with water.

Starts dry and has some pools further down, which are still quite clear. Wonderfully narrow canyon with beautiful tufa formations, a small grotto and a very nice ambience overall. (machine translated)
