Summary: (machine translated)
DISEQUIPPED
Ravine of El Tranco or Fuente Chartera. Ravine to which they have installed footbridges and stairs that make difficult its descent rappelling and have removed the facilities. It has nothing remarkable.

Hydrology:
– TODO –

Access: (machine translated)
The town of Villel is accessed by the N-330. A street next to the river which must be forded immediately. We continue along another street guided by signposts, we leave the village on a dirt track. At the following crossroads we take the track on the left except after a gorge, where we have to ford the river twice, where a signpost indicates us to the right towards "El Tranco". Except near the end the red-white marks of the GR-10 confirm that we are on the right track. At the end of the track we find the spring of Fuente Chartera and an information panel about "El Tranco". It is about 3'5 km with hardly any difference in altitude that we can also walk.

Approach: (machine translated)
We go up the ravine by the road or by the footbridges.

Tour:

Return: (machine translated)
You go out to the road where we have parked.
