Résumé: (traduction alternative) Forest canyon for rappeling
Hydrologie:
Accès: (traduction alternative) From Morbegno take the SP 8 to the mountain pass of San Marco. It goes up in a southerly direction in serpentines to the Valle Campoerbolo. After 10 km (from Morbegno) we cross the village of Albaredo Per San Marco. 2 km after this village we come to a hairpin bend to the left and we park the car in this area.
Approche: (traduction alternative) At the top of the hairpin bend, take the path that leads up in a south-easterly direction to the Madonna delle Grazie church (1160 m above sea level). From here, continue south-east along the former road to the Passo di San Marco, then descend in hairpin bends. We cross a torrent and soon reach the road bridge over the Pedena. If you want to shorten the tour by a good hour, you can get on here below the bridge at a water drainage. Otherwise, take the path on the other side of the bridge along the stream up to an altitude of 1120 m above sea level (a good 15 minutes from the bridge).
Tour: (traduction alternative) Many, but not very attractive rappels, some slides and relatively many possible jumps.
Retour: (traduction alternative) About 150m before the Pedena flows into the Bitto di Albaredo, there is a small wooded and grassy gravel terrace to the right and slightly above the Pedena. An inconspicuous track begins at its eastern end, which soon becomes recognizable as an old path and leads up to the road. In 2012, the bark had been chipped off a tree as a marker. We also placed 2 cairns.
