Résumé: (traduction alternative) Gneiss canyon with lots of vegetation. Good warm-up tour for larger projects.
Hydrologie: (traduction alternative) Catchment area mainly forest. From October to February, mostly stable weather conditions with little precipitation.
Accès: (traduction alternative) Drive to Karuwa, you have to redeem the Annapurna Permit beforehand.
Approche: (traduction alternative) Walk up to 2400m on the Mardi Himal East Trek. From there, follow a small hunter's trail through the forest to a tributary of Bhalaudi, where you rappel down to the main stream. Better ask for guides, Tanka and Chack should know the way down to the tributary.
Tour: (traduction alternative) A few tight spots at the beginning, and cool rappels. Towards the exit a bit more blocks, but some jumps possible.
Retour: (traduction alternative) Look for tracks on the left, in the Seti valley a large hydro plant is being built, there are some forest roads that are not yet on the maps.

Not too technical, but there are still a few waterfalls that have plenty of water pressure. (traduction alternative)
